EDITORIAL BRIEFS.

BE sure to vote the Republican ticket.

VOTE for every man on the Republican county ticket.

THIS is a fight for home and happiness. Help us to win it.

IF James Kerr is sent to Congress he will misrepresent this district by voting for free trade.

THE hydra-headed monster of free trade should be so effectually beaten that he will never rise again.

IF Mr. RYNDER is sent to congress he will try to have passed a law prohibiting the importation to this country of cheap pauper labor.

THE men who are leading the Democratic party in its crusade against protection are the same who helped along the Rebellion.

THIS Nation, encumbered by the accidental President, has been under a cloud for four years. The cloud's silver lining is almost here.

THE Democratic platform endorsed both the Mills bill and Cleveland's message. The two documents mean rank free trade.

IT can be truthfully said that the Republican party has nominated its very best members for office this year, National, State and county.

THE great evil of the age is the importation of pauper labor. General Harrison is a true American and when he is President he will sign a bill prohibiting any more such importations.

THE Centre Reporter is reminded that Aaron Williams, Esq., Democratic county chairman, has returned home. So give him some of the credit for the success or failures of this free trade campaign.

HON(?) W. L. SCOTT, Democratic Member of Congress from Erie, and a member of the Democratic National Executive Committee, is the only coal operator who refuses to give the miners the five cents per ton advance promised last February.

WHENEVER the protective system begins to drive American artisans to seek employment in foreign countries it will be time to strike for Free Trade, says the Philadelphia Press. At present the current of emigration is all from the Old World to America.

One of the most startling campaign yarns is to the effect that the candidacy of Gen. James Langdon Curtis, nominee of the American party for President, was dictated by messengers from the spirit world. In that case the size of his vote ought to be at least medium.

How a soldier can vote for Cleveland, the able bodied man who was too cowardly to go to war, who let his substitute die in the alms house and called the soldiers paupers, is more than we can imagine Think of this, boys in blue, and vote for brave Ben Harrison.

YOUNG VOTERS, ATTENTION.

There will 2,000,000 young men vote for presidential electors next month who never voted for Presidential electors before. These 2,000,000 young voters hold the result of the present contest in their hands. Now as custodians of a trust at once so important and so far reaching, it is their duty to act with thoughtful caution. As young American citizens, you have this responsibility, and in the discharge of it will not do for you to say that your father acted thus or so. It will not do for you to follow your inclinations solely · to follow your preferences, your predjudices, your sympathies.

Your decision affects your own future. It also affects the future of your neighbor. This is the rub. Here is the moral side of it. You are your brother's political keeper. As a political sentinel —young, patriotic, ambitious—are you going to prove false to your American citizenship at the very outset?

Right down in your heart you have a sympathy for one cause or the other. It is very largely this sympathy that determines whether you are a Democrat or a Republican. Now what right have you to blindly follow this sympathy, when your act directly affects every other man in the land? You are a sovereign, not a serf. You are sitting in judgment upon the future of your own realm.

You elect a judge to the bench. He follows his prejudices and disregards evidence. You quickly degrade him. Ought not you as electors, who put not only judges upon the bench, but lawmakers in Congress and presidents in the White House,—ought not you to be hauled down from your American citizenship if you follow prejudice, and disregard evidence?

You admit that you ought. Of course you do. You are are manly Americans, and can't do otherwise. Now let us submit in evidence, three points:

1. That history shows that whenever the strong, national policy, outlined by Hamilton, saved from destruction by Lincoln and Grant, and now represented by the party of Harrison,—whenever this policy has obtained, we have made progress. Why? Because the policy had in it the elements of success; the opposite, or Jeffersonian policy, the elements of failure. You doubt this? Let us beg our judge to lay aside that lurking prejudice, that suggested the doubt, and read our history through clean glasses.

2. That experience proves that our greatest material progress has been made while we shut out products of foreign capital and labor, unless they paid us something for coming in.

3. That wherever there is greatest material accumulation, there is greatest culture, temperance, humanity, piety.

As an impartial sovereign, with a decision in your hand that effects not alone yourself, but me, and not alone me, but every other American, you are bound to take this evidence into consideration. Can you gainsay it? If you can find the road to national unity in the precepts of Calhoun; if you can find more material wealth in Virginia and Mississippi than in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania; if you can find the highest culture in the lower wards of New York, and in States where two out of every three men you meet can neither read nor write: if you can do this then you can conscientiously decide this case in favor of the principles at present represented by Cleveland and Thurman. If you cannot, than as an impartial judge, you are bound to decide it in favor of the principles represented by Harrison and Morton. Bear this in mind: that it is more a question of men than it is of sympathy. It is a question of principle, not of your preference.

WE will give the Reporter free, one year, to any Republican or any one else who can show that the laborer gets the tariff on manufactured articles. —Centre Reporter.

No one asserts that he gets all the tariff—that would be unfair. It is divided between the laborer and the capitalists. Our capitalists are richer than those of any other country and our laboring men are also richer. For proof, witness the fact that the New England States have more money in saving banks then the working people of all England. Now it is certain that a tariff exists, and to it we must attribute this condition of affairs. So you see we have proven it, but don't want the Reporter. Send it to somebody who cannot read.

THE constitution of the Southern Confederacy said that no duties should be laid to foster any branch of industry. President Cleveland said that the Protective system is vicious and illogical. Shall the Southern Confederacy triumph?

LOW WAGES IN EUROPE.

AN ANSWER TO A FOOLISH EREE TRADE OBJECTION.

It is the fashion of the free traders to answer the arguments that wages are higher in this country than in England by the statement that wages are higher in England than in certain protected countries of Europe. Whether that is true or not there is nothing in the argument, for the countries which have recently adopted protection are still suffering from the effect of the low wages that free trade made necessary. At the same time, although the protective system has not had an opportunity to produce much effect on wages in Germany, for example, it has produced some effect, and wages are higher there than they are are in free trade Holland. Let us compare the lowest wages paid in Germany and Holland in certain trades. The following table will be found very instructive, because it illustrates how speedily a protective tariff raises wages. The figures represent weekly wages:

Trades.	Holland.	Germany.
Masons	$4 50	$4 98
Hod-carriers	2 10	3 57
Plasterers	3 50	7 14
Plumbers	3 50	4 28
Carpenters	3 75	4 98
Gas-fitters	3 00	4 28
Laborers in factories	2 40	2 85
Ship carpenters	4 60	5 71

These are a few trades taken at random from the consular reports of the two countries, and the statistics show that in protected Germany the wages are, in many instances, higher than they are in free trade Holland. When Germany shall have realized the full measure of protection blessings, wages will be higher still. But whether they are or not is at present not of importance to the wage-earners of this country. They are interested only in the fact that wages in Europe are low, whatever may be the cause of it, and that our workingmen will be obliged to compete with them if free trade should prevail in this country. Low wages in Germany or any other competing country would injure workingmen here if protection should be abolished.

We are Glad to Explain.

THE Bellefonte NEWS should explain to the working men wherein the high tariff has benefited them.—Centre Reporter.

We have often done so and will do so again. It has caused general prosperity throughout the land, so that what was a luxury a few years ago soon became a necessity. Under the Republican high tariff which prevailed until 1883 men received highest wages, had happiest homes. Their children went to school and they had musical instruments and other evidences of refinement in their houses. The suffering since that time is due to reduced tariff and the apprehension of its still further reduction. It is a fact that employes of iron furnaces are not now receiving as high wages as they did prior to 1883, nor as high as they were before Cleveland was elected. The evils predicted to follow Cleveland's election came and the development of this country has been retarded at least ten years. Cleveland's party permits the herds of cheap pauper laborers from Europe to come to these shores and now desires to reduce duties on the goods they manufacture. If you seek for some more explanation ask for it, and we will cheerfully give it.

WHY do English Free Trade newspapers and English Free Trade capitalists all applaud the message and letter of acceptance of Grover Cleveland and the platform of the Democratic party? Wageworkers stop for one moment in your daily toil and consider? Is it because you will be benefited? Not a bit of it. It is because they expect the Democratic party to let down every protective fence that now bars their products from the market of this country. They expect the Democratic party to tear down every barrier to foreign productions and when this is done they with pauper made goods will flood American marts and laugh in glee over the anguish and sufferings of American workman. What care they for American workmen?

WORKINGMEN are studying the tariff question. This is quite enough. If workingmen will simply look into the matter, not follow blind prejudice, they will soon be convinced that protection is the right policy. This isn't theory. It is experience,

ONLY TWO SIDES.

HERE THEY ARE

WHICH WILL YOU CHOOSE?

RYNDER and Protection, Pensions, Progress and Prosperity.	KERR and Free Trade, Falling Wages, Bankruptcies & Tramps.

The reduction of the tariff in 1872-3 precipitated the panic which waged for five years. The slight reduction of the tariff in 1883 destroyed the steel rod industry, and almost made a panic. The Mills Bill proposition has stagnated business—its passage would send a wave of idleness and bankruptcy over the entire country, Rynder is against the Mills Bill—Kerr is for it. Vote for Rynder.

THE MILLS BILL REDUCTION.

Excluding Sugar, American Industries Cut Down over 49 Per Cent.

FROM THE U. S. SENATE MAJORITY TARIFF REPORT.

"After months spent in violent attacks upon the Protective system, and when, fortunately, the people of the country have become thoroughly aroused to the impending danger, the friends of the House bill suddenly discover that it is not a Free-trade measure. * * * *

"To ascertain the effect of the Mills bill upon protected industries we should eliminate from computation the amount collected from the revenue duty imposed upon sugar. We should then have the value of ALL IMPORTED ARTICLES referred to in the bill as $175,671,027, upon which the duties collected in 1887 amounted to $78,074,855. The duties which would have been collected upon these articles under the Mills bills would have amounted to $39,525,789, showing a percentage of reduction of duties and rates upon all articles named in the bill, exclusive of sugar, of 49.37 per cent.

THE QUESTION OF THIS CAMPAIGN.

Albany Journal (Rep)

The three greatest achievements for the welfare of this nation since it was formed were the work of the Northern states.

The North destroyed slavery!

The North preserved the Union!

The North supported and maintained the policy of Protection!

The three greatest wrongs against the nation ever committed in this land since the close of the Revolutionary War were encouraged and sustained by the South.

Nullification, for which the South was ready to fight.

Slavery, for which it fought.

Secession, which cost it its slaves.

In the constitution of the Confederate states was this direct assault upon Protection: "Nor shall any duties or taxes on importations from foreign nations be laid to promote or foster any branch of industry."

The question in this campaign now is whether the policy of the North, which has done so much for the life, the prosperity and the welfare of this nation, shall prevail, or whether the South, which has been defeated, and justly defeated, in every great issue it has made, shall dictate what the country's policy shall be?

THERE is no more disgraceful episode in Cleveland's administration than the appointment of Whitney to be Secretary of the Navy. It was in pursuance of a corrupt bargain with Standard Oil Payne who furnished a large sum of money to assist in securing the election of Cleveland. The whole affair reeks with corruption. Payne was charged with buying his way into the Senate with his great wealth, and his son-in-law. Perhaps the failure of the Democrats to refer to the Standard Oil Trust may be attributed to a tender regard for Cleveland which will not permit them to remind him that that trust is the most monstrous in the country and that its existence is in no wise due to protection, nor is its maintenance dependent upon a high or low tariff.—San Francisco Chronicle.

REMEMBER that Cleveland is ignerant of any of the science of revenue or civil government. By some influence—either British gold or Southern support—he was prevailed upon to write his free trade message. Then the Democrats had either to endorse him or proclaim their first President for twenty-five years a failure. They chose to endorse him, and that is why they have made this suicidal policy of free trade a cardinal doctrine of their belief.

IT seems strange that any man of even ordinary common sense can vote any other than the Republican ticket this year.

AN INDEPENDENT VOTER TALKS.

Henry C. Lea, publisher, historian, millionaire and philanthropist of Philadelphia was the head and front of an independent reform movement to elect Grover Cleveland President in 1884. He now comes out boldly for Harrison and among the scathing comments on Clevelands administration we find these:

"If the secret history of the Allentown convention of 1887 and of the Harrisburg Committee meeting of 1888 shall ever see light, we shall learn how the Federal officials, who were so busy at both of them, operated and why they had been so busy at the preceding primaries. But meanwhile we can guess at the pressure which produced so remarkable a "transformation" on the floor of the House that twenty-nine Democrats who had been elected as protectionists succumbed to it and voted for the Mills bill. A more dangerous assault on legislative independence could scarcely be made than the veto of the Allentown Public-Building bill because the member from the Lehigh district had refused to be "transformed," and the warning to recalcitrants was emphasized by the defiant inconsistency of the reasons alleged in the veto message with the President's action in other similar cases where members were tractable. These methods of "transformation" have brought about a slavishness without parallel in American politics. When the President takes snuff there is a simultaneous sensation in every Democratic nose.

"He negotiates a fishery treaty and every Democratic member of congress applauds the wisdom of making concessions to Canada. The Senate rejects his treaty, and to obtain what he considers a momentary advantage he suddenly declares that Canada has been guilty of outrages requiring him to be invested with extraordinary powers of retaliation, when the peace lovers of yesterday are transformed into blusterers today. The whole performance would be enjoyable as opera-bouffe if it were not so degrading to American manhood and so full of the most dangerous portents for the future. We can hope for the future nothing better than we have had in the past from either the man or his party, which has just declared in the St. Louis platform that 'honest reform in the civil service has been inaugurated and maintained by President Cleveland,' and does not even committ itself to an expression of favor for the principle—a fact of marked significance in view of the controll of the convention by the administration.

"Mr. Cleveland's defeat is therefore, a condition precedent to any hope of relief from the spoils system. He has been weighed and found wanting, and our first duty is to make an example of him. When a farmer nails a chicken hawk to his barn-door, he not only gets rid of the plunderer, but he gives a wholesome warning to its fellows."

THE uselessness of contradicting anything said of Mr. Blaine is again illustrated in the case of Mr. Mills. Blaine said that Mr. Havemyer, the chief of the sugar trust, had appeared before the Ways and Means committee of congress and fixed up the rate of tariff on sugar. Mr. Mills contradicted the assertion of Mr. Havemyer's visit to the committee and then Mr. Blaine gave the Congressional Record as his authority, and to that all members of Congress must submit. Now, if Mr. Mills had not denied a fact so easily proven and had only denied that there was an agreement between the committee and Mr. Havemyer, Mr. Blaine might probably have been unable to prove the truth of what he said. Mr. Mills having failed so sadly in his first denial, will scarcely attempt another, as no one will believe him.

THE Republican party has fostered every American interest. It carried the country through the tremendous crisis of the Rebellion and the troubles of reconstruction. It raised an enslaved race to liberty and reunited the country, torn asunder by Democratic disunionists. It gave the United States a splendid financial system, and through Protection made this country the most prosperous on the globe. It still has much to accomplish, including the overthrow of the Democracy, who propose to deceive workingmen.

WHAT have the Democrats done during their administration of the Nation? Their presence in Washington has not been without its notable effects They held the longest session of congress ever known and would have ruined the country by passing the Mills bill had not the Senate said: "No you dont; go home anb let your constituents tell you to stay at home."

A little, if any spring, a cool summer, and now an autumn which will be noted in history for its frigid features. Scientists and weather-wise people may be able to account for this phenomenon.

THERE has not been a Presidential campaign since the re-election of Gen. Grant in 1872 when the Republican party all over the country has shown so much confidence in success as it does to-day.

Our Story Teller

ROBBERS FOILED.

I stood at the corner of Alsio street, in the old town of San Bernardina, just where the mid-day shadow of the great peak which gave the town its name falls gratefully upon the hot earth, talking with my friend, Tom Bennett, when there passed us a Mojave Indian, tall and bronzed, but clean; and as he strode down the way I noticed that one arm was gone.

"Tom, see that Indian!" I exclaimed. In ten years of California life and adventure, I have never before seen a maimed warrior. I'll warrant the tale of that lost arm would be worth hearing."

"Do you think so, major?" replied Tom, with a smile. Then come and take dinner with me to-night at the San Felipe, and I'll tell it. I know it as well as old Jarah himself."

"Good!" I cried. "You may count on me. So his name is Jarah! That has a Spanish sound. Surely he is not a half breed?"

"No, a pure Mojave," replied Tom. "But I must go. To-night, then."

According to agreement, at six o'clock I was at the door of the San Felipe, where I was met by Tom; and we were conducted by a solemn-faced waiter into a small but neat room, and served with an elegant dinner. Both of us were hungry, and it was not until the crackers and cheese and wine were left before us and the waiter had departed for good, that we lighted our cigars and my friend began his story.

"Major, you know the Southern Pacific Road was built from Los Angelos to this point about eight years ago, and on east toward Yuma, to meet the work coming from the east westward. Well, at that time, for about eight months, I ran a passenger engine from here to Colorado river, a trip down at night and one back the next night—"

"Why, Tom," said I, interrupting, "I never knew you were an engineer."

Tom smiled.

"Neither did I until I got hard pressed. Bad luck had taken my last dollar just then, though, and I was anything to make a living. Yes, I understand steam and engines enough to run one. Well, as you may imagine, the country was rather new and most of the stations were simply water tanks, sidings and telegraph huts, so the run was a lonely one. My firemen, Jack Tedlow, used to swear he wonld as soon run to the edge of the infernal regions and back as over that route, but the pay was good and sure, and we both stuck to it.

"The Mojaves were all through that country then, but never made us any trouble, and sometimes we gave one of them a ride, just for the fun of seeing their wild looks as we sped through the night. They never expressed fear, however.

"I had been on the line about six months, when, one night, we heard a gang of cut-throats, headed by the then renouned Mexican Chico, had crossed the border and were robbing ranches and packed-trains in the Gila country, and that some fear was expressed by the railroad officials lest the rascals should try to ditch a train. However, as the scene of their drepredations was nearly a hundred miles off from my route, I gave little heed to the story. Southern California was full of wild men and wild tales in those days.

"One night in November as we pulled into Mesquite on our up trip, and slowed down for orders, an Indian touched my arm as I stepped on to my engine, and said:

"Me ride?"

"I was feeling ugly—my liver out of kelter somehow—and I grumbled:

"'What for? Why don't you copper-noses walk or pay like a white man?"

It was a surly reply to the poor brute, but I did not think he understood me, and was greatly surprised when he answered me in broken English.

"'Squaw sick. Injun got no money. Too far walk. Let me ride?"

"Ashamed of myself, I said;

"'Climb in."

"And as the dusky rover coiled himself on top of the tender, I pulled open the throttle, and up the road we sped.

"He rode to Indian Wells, nearly a hundred miles, and I had forgotten all about him, when he again touched my arm as he climbed down from his grimy perch and said: "Injun glad, "Injun not forget," and disappeared in the night.

"Jack laughed at me heartily, and said:

"'When he makes his will he'll leave ye his blanket."

"And with that little joke, the incident passed from my mind.

"Two days later, one of the train hands came to me with a scared face.

"'Tom," said he, "a friend of mine from the Gila country tells me Chico and his gang are moving this way, and that it is talked that he proposes to strike the railroad and rob passenger trains. I don't like the way things look."

"I laughed at the man and replied:

"'Surely if it is known he's coming to rob the railroad, the officials will be ready for him. Don't worry. The biggest risk we take is from our track and the risk of the business itself, not from Chico."

"Still the news did not please me, and I intended to rub up my old revolver and hang it on again, but I forgot it.

"Less than a week later we started down the line on as beautiful a night as I ever remember to have seen even in Southern California. The moon was almost full, and its soft, pure light fell upon the broad plains, the distant hills, and against the towering mountains, like the reflection of a smile. One could see miles even at midnight, and the cool air that swept into our faces as we bowled swiftly on was fresh as the breath of a child.

"We had passed Indian Wells and Volcano Springs, and were just over the heavy grade near Tortuga, beginning to speed down the canyon toward Mammouth Tank, when suddenly my fireman spoke:

"'Tom, did you hear that?"

"'Hear what?" said I

"For, with my head out of my window, I had heard nothing but the roar of our train.

"'A shot!" he replied, excitedly. "And there—there it is again. It's a signal shot!"

"This time I heard it, and wondered, as I peered into the golden night before me. We had swung clear to the canyon now, and upon a heavy grade were rushing down two miles of straight track to Mammouth Tank.

"'Signal for what?" said I, still gazing intently before us. "Do you think—"

"Jim caught my arm.

"Look! look!" he cried.

"His voice was hoarse and shrill; his hand upon my arm was like a grip of steel, and his outbursting eyes flamed from the pallor of his face like the eyes of a demon.

"I looked, and never in all my life do I think the breath of death rushed more coldly into my face—never before nor since did horror so freeze my blood as when my reeling brain comprehended what I saw.

"Straight before us ran the goldly-gleaming rails—straight to the station; but there they broke, and the switch that should have been closed was wide open.

"Ten rods beyond it, on the siding, stood a long line of loaded freight cars and down upon them we were rushing at a speed of forty miles an hour.

"Nor was this all; for even as I gazed and my dazed brain was struggling to know why the switch was open—why this tearing, crushing, grinding spectre of death stood awaiting us and all we drew behind—the answer came, and with wild, half-savage yells there arose from all along the tracks on either side twoscore of dim and ragged forms, Greasers by their dress, who waved their arms and fired their pistols, and flung their furious oaths at us as they awaited the coming instant which should hurl our train and all on board into a shapeless, bleeding mass, helpless to their rapine and plunder. It was Chico and his gang.

"I could not speak, but with a mighty effort I pulled the lever and reversed my engine. Too late! The terrible impetus of the heavy train upon the down grade was not to be overcome and even as the grinding sparks flew from our backward turning wheels, the great iron monster, groaning and trembling in every joint, was still forced onward at sufficient speed to make the yawning switch—now but twenty yards in front—seemed like a waiting grave while the band of ruffian murderers ran beside the train hooting, yelling and shooting.

"Too late; our fate was surely sealed! With a groan, I turned to fling myself from the cab. But even as my foot bent to the spring, even as we struck the rails that formed the switch, a dusky figure rose from the sage-bush at at the vey switch bar, a sudden, sinewy hand flung that bar into place, and before I could realize it we were rushing past the station on the main line—safe!

"And above the roar of the train, as I instinctively threw the throttle wide open and the great engine gathered its strength for a tremendous burst of speed, I heard the angry shouts of the foiled robbers, the air was filled with the sound of their rifles, and the pursuing bullets pattered about us like drops of rain.

"Then and for the first time I saw, clinging limply to the pilot of my engine, the same dusky form that had fclosed the switch; and as the haggard ace turned toward me, I knew it to be a Mojave Indian—the same one I had given the ride from Mesquite to the Wells—It was Jarah!

"Yes the Indian had saved us and no one else, and broke his arm so badly that it had to be ampufated.

"It seems Chico had taken him by force from the mountains as a guide, and that when the plan to wreck the train was discussed, Jarah knew enough to understand. Keeping quiet he had been allowed to remain with the outlaws until the last moment; and then at the risk of his life, he had closed the switch and sprang on the engine's pilot.

"The blow tore his arm to pieces, but had he not escaped he would have been flayed alive by the robbers.

"The railway company pensioned him, and he lives at ease. But I quit the road two days later."

A health crank out West is preparing a manual of "Hygienic Don'ts." Here are a few specimens: "Don't drink alcoholic or malt liquors. Don't drink coffee tea or cocoa. Don't drink hot water, for it parboils and destroys the stomach. Don't drink cold water for it paralyzes the digestive organs. Don't drink milk for it causes consumption. Don't eat bread, either leavened or unleavened; they are both deadly. Don't eat pork. Don't eat raw vegetables, or fruit, for they contain living organisms. Don't eat them cooked, for cooking induces deleterious chemical changes. Don't walk fast, as it uses up your life. Don't walk slow as it makes the muscles flabby."

But if you read the Bellefonte Fountain regularly, and follow its advice your life will be prolonged.

Opening of the South Pennsylvania.

The suit between the South Pennsylvania and the Pennsylvania will be begun before the Master appointed by the United States Court in New York before the end of this month. The Pennsylvania will begin the case by presenting testimony to show that the two roads when built will not be parallel lines, and hence the purchase of the South Pennsylvania is valid and constitutional.

Sympathetic old Lady (to convict)—Ah, my unfortunate friend, your fate is indeed a hard one, and as she thinks of you in this dreadful place, how your poor ife must suffer.

Convict (very much affected)—Why—which one, mum? I'm up for bigamy.

Contrary to Tradition.—"Young man," he said solemnly, "do you realize that the truly wise man doesn't think that he knows as much as he really does know? "Oh, yes sir," was the reply, "and the man who isn't truly wise thinks he knows it all, and when he jumps in he generally gets there with both feet.

He Drove a Wagon at First.

New York World.

Mr. J. O'Brien, who returned from Europe with John Hoey, is Superintendent of the Southern Express Company, and is looked upon by President H. B. Plant as his prospective successor. He is said to be without a superior in his business. He is a bachelor and a man of handsome appearance, and, while his home is in New Orleans, he spends mnch of his time in this city, where he has rooms in the St. James Hotel. He is a Baltimore boy, and when a lad he, and Nelse Saymour, afterwards a famous member of Bryant's minstrels, frequently blackened their faces and gave ameteur minstrel performances in the cellar of their father's residences. In 1858 he applied at the Baltimore office of the Adam's Express Company for a position, and such was his daily persistence that he finally obtained an humble one. Soon he was sent to Memphis in the Southern Express Company's system, which is really a branch of the Adam's corporation. He drove a wagon at first, but arose step by step until he achieved his present prominence.

In Laurens County, South Carolina, on the side of a steep hill, an area of several acres of land has dropped six feet. This ground is covered with turned and twisted brush. The falling in seems to have occurred several days ago. There is a place where water and sand issue from a large crack in the sunken ground. The water has a milky sediment. Some of it ran down to a trench some twenty feet distant and killed all vegetation it touched. One man in the neighborhood says he smelled sulphur at the place. Some people think the depression is due to a subterranean river.

A LEAP YEAR ROMANCE.

Ansonia (Conn.) Sentinel.

An Ansonia lawyer was sitting on the steps of the Central House in Newton Wednesday, when a pretty young woman passed out of the hotel and up the street. "There goes a remarkably pretty girl," exclaimed a gentleman conversing with him, "and there's quite a little romance connected with her, too." The legal gentleman was all attention at once as his friend continued: "She belongs down in Baltimore and her father is a wealthy liquor distiller of that city. She's got a cool $200,000 in her own right and a decisiveness about her that means business. She located at the George Hotel, Black Rock, this summer, coming there all alone. A young man sitting at her table attracted her attention. She spoke to him one evening after he had met her about three times and she broke him all up by asking him if he was married. He replied that he was too poorly situated for marriage just then; he hadn't much money and had to support his father. "Well, I've plenty of money," said she; "why don't you marry me?" She returned to her home in Baltimore, told her father about the circumstance, got his consent, and returned to Black Rock with her father, was married in Bridgeport, and she and her husband are passing the remainder of the summer in Newport as happy as turtle doves." The lawyer has been thinking ever since what chances there are for young men in this country.

The Thing Went Off.

Atlanta (Ga) Cronicle.

Last night at Oconee church, when the prayer for the mourners was being offered up by the pastor, the sound of an igniting match was heard in the corner of the house. After prayer was over and before benediction was pronounced the pastor said:

"If the man who struck that match will come forward after service and acknowledge it, or say it was accidental, we will excuse him, but if he does not there is a man in this house who will sift it out, and it will cost him more than one thousand boxes of matches at wholesale." This seemed to fall like a bomb over the people, and all eyes were turned to whence the sound came. After the benediction a young man came forward and told the pastor that it was a young lady who had struck the match. On seeing her the pastor asked: "How did it happen that you struck that match, my sister?"

"Well, sir, I had a match in my hand, and not thinking what I was doing I rubbed it on a bench and before I knew it the thing went off."

Of course she was excused, as the act was simply a mishap, and purely unintentional.

We are informed that during a service in one of the churches in this city several years ago a young man thoughtlessly struck a match during prayer which disturbed the worshippera. This act cost that young man over $500 before he got through with it. It is a serious thing to disturb public worship.

Blaming the Telephone Operator.

One of the Buffalo subscribers informed the central office that regularly every morning he was awakened out of his sweet and soothing last nap by the ringing of his telephone at 5 o'clock, and if it wasn't stopped he would order his telephone out. Now, no exchange likes to lose a subscriber on such grounds, and the most careful and zealous search for the cause was made. The morning operators declared that they did not ring the telephone, the linemen were willing to make oath that no other lines crossed with the line in question, and it did seem as if the telephone was rung by unseen and very mean spirits from some other and wickeder land.

The matter finally became so serious a mystery that it was laid before the president. Then upon a quiet hint an investigation was made of the methods of awakening the servant. And lo! and behold, the mystery was clear.

It was an alarm clock, set to go off at 5 a. m., and its loud ring had awakened the lord and master, and with that peculiar perversity of the human mind to which we have before alluded, he had at once without any investigation on his own part, blamed the telephone.—The Electric Review.

Enough for one day.—"Oh, mother, cried a North-Side youngster who had been visiting an elder brother in school. "I learned lots to-day." "What was one thing you learned?" asked the fond parent. "I learned in the 'rithmetic class," was the reply, "that the square of the base and perpendicular of a right handled triangle is equal to the sum of the hippotamus.—Chicago Times.

NEW YORK.

A Democrat correspondent of the New York Herald has this to say: You can make up your mind that, unless some extraordinary change occurs between now and November 6, Harrison will go down to High Bridge with something like 70,000 plurality. If New York City can overcome that Cleveland is all right; if not, he will have to pack up and come back to Buffalo. You can get no idea in your present surroundings of the situations in the country. The Republicans are making a fierce, intelligent and so far successful fight. It was a mistake for Cleveland to raise the tariff issue. I can see that now for the first time."

"I know it is a strange question, but please answer it."

"Yes, Mr. Jones, I am very fond of cabbage."

"Ah, I am glad to hear that."

"Why?"

"Your liking cabbage goes to show that we were born for each other. I dote on corn beef. Why should we not unite our fortunes?"

"O, Mr. Jones!"

"James," said the father of the family, sternly, "your school reports have been anything but favorable this term. I suppose you failed in your examination as usual?"

"No, sir," protested the boy, "I passed, but it was a tight squeeze."

"Laura," continued the father, turning to his oldest daughter, "I think I heard voices in the hall late last evening. I have told you repeatedly not to let that young man stay later than 11 o'clock."

"It was just 11 o'clock when he left. father."

"That's so," testified James, coming to the relief of his sister. "I was at the top of the stairway and saw him go.

WHY THE REPUBLICAN PARTY SHOULD RULE.

Because, it has made, under its policy of Protection, United States bonds worth to-day 126 cents on the dollar, while in 1860 they were a drug on the market at 85 cents. It enables American workingmen to earn good wages, to live well, own their own homes, lay a little aside for a rainy day in Savings banks, and to enjoy comforts that are absolutely denied English and European laborers. It has given to old and disabled soldiers, on their weary and cheerless walk down the shady sides of life, occupations and good wages, and more than this, it has made it possible for the 4,000,000 liberated slaves to earn for themselves a decent living.

It has made the internal commerce of the United States what it is to-day. It has stimulated and fostered and developed manufacturing industries, giving steady work and living wages to millions of artisans. It has uncovered in our soil billions of dollars worth of wealth and has created more markets for farm products.

It has enabled the United States to earn more than 55 per cent of the increase of wealth of the earth during the past twenty-six years.

Its policy has been and is to "build up," not "tear down." What good reason can there be for changing such a policy, for one which in the recent past was tried and brought ruin, bankruptcy, panics and crime to our land? Compare the records, wage-worker—you have the deciding vote.

The Peddler was Sold.

"Where did the new tea-kettle come from?" inquired a man who recently found his cook-stove unexpectedly adorned.

"I made a trade with a tin peddler for your old trousers," replied the prudent little house wife.

"How much to boot?"

"Not a penny."

Nonsense! Those trousers were as full of holes as a lace curtain and not worth 10 cents for rags, while the kettle would be cheap at 60 cents."

"I got the kettle for the trousers all the same,' persisted the little woman. 'I saw the peddler coming and while he dickered with the neighbors I slipped that old brass medal you got at the Photographers' convention into the trousers pocket. Of course, the peddler gave your garment a close examination and in so doing felt the medal in the pocket. I kept my eye on him so that he did not dare to take it out. He thought it was a silver dollar sure and when I said: Now, no nonsense; give me that tea-kettle for the trousers or hand them back and begone, it would have done your heart good to see how promptly he accepted the first condition.

SHE DOUBTED HISSINCERITY.

Marion Patriot.

Several men were sitting in front of one of the stores when one of the men remarked, just as a lady with strawberry blonde hair was passing, that he was quite hoarse.

The lady stopped and placed her arms skimbo, just as they always do when they want to give a fellow a tongue lashing, and looking him through as though he was as transparent as air, remarked:

"It is coming to a pretty state of affairs that a lady can't walk the streets without being insulted by that senseless white horse racket. I will let you know, sir, that if I have red hair I have a temper to resent any aspersions cast upon il, sir."

"I beg pardon, madam. I most humbly beg pardon. My remark was that I was quite hoarse."

The lady passed on, thinking tha such a mistake was natural, but looking a doubt as to the sincerity of the man's apology.

There is a wonderful mirage in Glacier Bay, Alaska, reflected from the glassy surface of the Pacific glacier. It is said that after the change of the moon in June, soon after sunset and while the moon is climbing the sky, a city appears above the glacier. It is so distinct that a photograph is said to have been made this season by a resident of Juneau, who learned of the mirage from the Indians and has seen it appear and disappear for four years.

An Ohio farmer who had been drawn for jury duty, instead of presenting himself in court at the required time sent a very "courteous" note to the effect that he was very sorry, but he had more pressing business to attend to than serving as a juror, but he wouldn't mind performing that little duty of citizenship some other time if business permitted. An attachment was issued and, shortly after the sheriff introduced the soil tiller to the Court, which fined him $20 for his pleasantry.

This year's wheat crop is estimated at 419,000,000 bushels, as against 456,000,000 bushels last year, a decrease of about eight per cent. The wheat crop does not justify an advance of twenty per cent in the price of bread, by a large majority.

EX PRESIDENT ARTHUR

Died of Bright's disease of the kidneys. So have scores of other brilliant public men Dr. Edwards, editor of the New York Medical Reporter, says that this disease is growing more common and fatal daily. People have it without knowing it, until a cure is impossible. It arises from poison in the blood. The kidneys and liver fail to act, the poison rises finally to the brain, causing convulsions and death. Its first symptoms are dullness in the head, wandering pains about the body, especially in the small of the back, loss of appetite, strength and ambition, and by dropsical swellings which show the disease to be rapidly increasing. The only cure is a medicine that will stimulate the liver, kidneys and skin to throw off the poison and then act upon the bowels to carry the foul waste matters out of the system. Bear in mind that any kidney affection, neglected, soon runs into Bright's disease. DR. BROWN'S SARSAPARILLA cures it in a very simple and effective way. It sweeps through the corrupted circulation like a current of fresh air through a room filled with gas. It opens the natural outlets and expels the deadly element before it has time to do further mischief. One week's use of it will satisfy you of the truth of what we say.

Mr Carleton P. Williams, of Amesbury, Mass., writes: "I had Bright's disease of the kidneys, and made up my mind to die. The best physicians had treated me and done no real good. At this time you presented me with a bottle of BROWN'S SARSAPARILLA. I used six bottles and consider myself a well man." This splendid remedy may be a God-send to you. How We Grow Under Protection.

The following statistics are from very high and reliable authority; "In twenty years the population has increased by 69 per cent., the hay crop has increased 106 per cent., the cotton crop 194 per cent., and the production of pig iron over 386 per cent, Railway construction to the extent of 21,000 miles was projected last year, and over 15,000 miles of it were actually constructed in the twelve months. What this means will be better understood when it is pointed out that the total mileage existing in England is under the 21,000 planned and a single reason's addition to the tracks of the United States. New rails were required for 20,000 miles of road and upwards of 3,000,000 tons of steel rails were turned out for the new lines in course of construction."

No Hero Worth a Cent.—Mickey; "Did Piker Jake, the Count of Bilgewater in disguise, carry de lovely dorter of der trapper up der precipice?" Studdy (who is reading a dime novel): "Naw, he left her wid der Injuns an' went after help." Mickey (looking sick): "He did? He was er good 'un, he was! I'd er smashed der two chiefs an' dere followers an' took der lovely maiden in me arms an' carried her up der canyoon on der run! Frow der book in der gutter, Stubby; it must be dis 'ere Sunday-school guff."—Texas Siftings.

She Tried and Knows.

A leading chemist of New York says: "No plasters of such merit as the Ath-lo-pho-ros Plasters have ever before been produced." They are a novelty because they are not made simply to sell cheap, they are the best that science, skill and money can produce, and will do what is claimed for them. For sprains, aches, weakness, lameness, etc., they are unequaled.

The Athlophoros Plaster acted like magic. It is the best I ever tried and I have used many kinds. Our druggist said "plasters are all about the same" but I don't think so now. I sprained my arm and shoulder in July, and it has been painful since, but it does not pain me at all now. MRS. WILLIS MAGILL.

From Year to Year, "One of RAPHAEL TUCK & SONS' Calendars for the year 1889 is really a gem. It is in book form, and designed by J. Pauline Sunter, with couplets by Helen M. Burnside. January shows two little girls who come timidly long drawing behind them a little wagon full of dolls; they hold one another by the hand and look as pretty as they are innocent, their hair fluttering in the breeze and falling in masses over their foreheads, their chubby little faces aglow with good nature and even dolls laughing. Their appeal—'Could we stay this year with you?' could not be refused by any one. They evidently stay the year, for in the pages that follow they are shown in various occupations, feeding the birds, plucking wild flowers, rollicking in the grassy fields, and sitting by the seashore, making little rivers in the sand. On the page between June and July there is a picture of a milestone almost hidden by the flowers, but on which the inscription 'Half Way,' can be seen. Throughout the Calendar they are dressed in costumes appropriate to the different months of the year. In April they take refuge from the showers 'neath umbrellas; in May they fall asleep among the daisies in the field as they murmur:

'Nodding, nodding, to and fro,
In the grass the daisies grow.'

"In December they depart, muffled up to protect themselves from the cold, their satchels on their arms, and as the hands of the clock point to midnight they say:

'We hope you have had a plesant year.'

The last page of the Calendar has a candle burnt almost to the bottom, and is just dying out, indicating the close of the year."

This charming Calendar Book for 1889 has 18 pages of color and monochrome illustrations, gold edged, silk cord and tassels.

QUEER PEOPLE. This is the title of the latest and by all odds the most charming book for little people we have ever seen. Its fables' or stories' are delightful, but the illustrations are simply immense.

The author, Palmer Cox, is a new star in the juvenile brilliancy. His charming fables rival those of the world famed Æsop, and he far outshines that celebrated literary comet by his inimitable illustrations. He dresses up his birds, animals, insects, giants, faries, goblins, etc., in grotesque style and makes them reason, talk dance, and cut up all sorts of the oddest pranks imaginable, affording infinite delight, as well as excellent instruction to the young. The issue of his book "queer people" has brought a perfect ovation of praise from the brightest men in the land. For instance, Gen. Clinton B. Fisk says: It has set my children wild with delight." and Col Russell H. Conwell, the famous lecturer, says, Don't send me another such a book for I cant get my children to bed."

The famous statement diplomat, and wit, Sunset Cox, says: The Kweer Kapers are simply incomparable," while the distinguished theologian, Fr, Howard Crosby says: They have the fascination that belongs to Æsoph and Uncle Remus," and the venerable poet, Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes writes "I am sorry I have not a nursery full of little folks to enjoy its bright pictures and stories"

Æsoph's stories are enjoyed by old and young and are quoted by the greatest orators and surely these equally charming stories, so profusely and exquisitely illustrated, will charm young and old for generations to come.

The sale of this book will surly be enormous. It is published by the well known house of Hubbard Bros., Phila., Chicago, and Kansas City to whom any persons desiring an agency should apply.

EVERY Northern electoral vote will be given to Ben. Harrison.

REPUBLICANS should devote the time intervening between now and election to solid work for the whole ticket—National, State and county.

A FEW more years of Protection and we will produce every pound of wool used in this country. Mr. Mills would hand all we have gained over to other nations.

ALLISON and Fryberger are the best candidates for the Legislature that any voter could possibly desire. Every voter in Centre county should assist to send them there.

THE Democratic theory is to send money across the ocean for the purchase of European goods while our own workmen remain in idleness. Can any theory be more childish?

IT IS of importance to elect Republicans to every office. We want Republicans in the Legislature, in Congress and in the State and National governments. Remember that, voters, when you cast your ballots.

THE White chapel murders such as occurred in London seem to be transferred to Alabama, on this side the ocean. Reports say that four negroes have recently been discovered mysteriously murdered near Birmingham, Alabama. The identity of the murderer is not even suspected.

THE editor of the New York Sun, after taking a square look at the Chairman of the Republican National Committee, remarks with deliberation: "If there is any more striking illustration than Colonel Quay of a combination of the first class political and financial faculties, he is not in the public eye.

ROBT. G. MACKAY of St. Paul, who in 1884 stumped Minnesota for Cleveland, writes: "The Democracy of Minnesota is too deeply saturated with Free Trade for me. When a party sustains an anti-protective league and gathers every rampant Free Trader under its wing, for the time being I must stay on the outside."

THAT old veteran, Hon Simon Cameron, in a recent interview by a newspaper reporter, expressed himself as very hopeful of Republican success at the coming election. He said that no better candidate than Gen'l Harrison could have been named, his excellent qualities becoming more and more conspicuous every day.

PREPARING for Free Trade in American. London, Sept. 27. At a conference of miners held at Manchester, at which 250,000 miners were represented, it was decided to strike on October 29 unless the demand for an advance of 10 per cent. in wages was acceded to. It was also decided not to accept the advance unless it was made general.

THE campaign which General Goff is making as the Republican candidate for Governor of West Virginia is the most spirited that has ever been known in that State. The Republicans have tried for many years past to make West Virginia a Republican State, but the have never had a brighter prospect of doing so than they now have under General Goff's leadership.

LEAVING all the probabilities of the present political situation out of the question, there is no disguising the fact that the Democrats from one end of the country to the other are well nigh scared to death over the outlook. Things over in New York have gone to the bad with them, and as that stronghold has been their reliance for the reelection of the President, the prospects are correspondingly gloomy.

SENATOR COKE of Texas, recently delivered himself of the following sentiment, for which the audience he was addressing wildly applauded him. "If there is any one thing the average Texan would go out of his way to kick and kill and destroy, it is a protectice tariff.' Yet the greater portion of the Democratic press, North insist that the party is not for Free Trade. The Northern voter must see that Senator Coke does not have an opportunity to kick protective tariff.

THE CHEAT DISCOVERED.—An English peer who had always ordered his coats through his valet stepped into his tailor's on Piccadilly to order one himself. When he gave the address, the tailor, supposing him to be a new valet, slipped a little packet into his hand, with 'here's your commission, and its your own falt if you dont earn more. Just take this brush and give the old man's cloths a good wipe down with it every morning. He dont wear half as many coats as he should.' It was a steel wire brush. The peer took the money and his custom with him.

HIS PLACE WELL FILLED.

Hon. John Patton, our congressman, has filled the position most admirably and his vote has always been placed rightly. Should he have consented to run again he could certainly be elected even in this district of such radical Democratic propensities. But he has all the honor which the position could possibly bestow —having been twice elected in a Democratic district—and has earned the quiet retirement and rest which will be his. We thank him for what he has done.

Then the voters of this district are most fortunate in having for their support a gentleman who, though now not immediately identified with the Republican party is nevertheless a most inveterate and determined enemy to the destructive doctrine of free trade which the Democrats are now nursing to their bosoms. In his person he represents the cause of labor and he has always believed that the success of labor is closely allied with the doctrine of Protection. Being a close student of political history and economy he has arrived at his conclusions intelligently and his conclusions are based on indisputable facts and figures. He is well equipped to represent this important district. Theodore P. Rynder is far superior in education, experience and knowledge of public affairs to his Democratic opponent, James Kerr, whose qualifications are only those of the most ordinary individual.

Mr. Rynder probably recognizes the surplus of revenue as a necessary result of adequate and necessary protection. He believes a rich government can perform no more appropriate act than to grant a service pension to each soldier. Why should it not in its rich ability while many of its defenders are in penury? From this position they should be rescued. A vote for Theodore P. Rynder for congress will be what you can do to put down the Mills bill and all other free trade measures. It will be a rebuke to the arrogant and presumptuous agent of England—Mr. Cleveland. It will be a vote for your home and country. Send Mr. Rynder to Congress,

Young Jesse James's Strange Luck.

Jesse James, Jr., only heir of the great land pirate, is 15 years of age, and strange irony of fate, works for T. T. Crittenden and his sons, for that very Governor of Missouri who hounded his father to death and received his uncle Frank after the surrender of the latter. The story of the boy's engagement to work in Crittenden's real estate office is interesting. The boy, it appears, answered an advertisement for an office boy. Half a dozen other eager applicants were before him.

Crittenden asked him what he could do.

"I'll fight, run a foot race, or write a leetter with any of these kids for the job,' answered the brigand's son.

'Write a letter,' said Crittenden.

Jesse complied, and proved to write a better hand than any other applicant.

'What is your name?' asked the ex-Governor kindly.

'Jesse James, Jr.,' answered the boy.

Doubtless ex-Governor Crittenden was as surprised that he was about to hire the son of the notorious Jesse, as the boy and his mother were to learn that the former's employer was the ex-Governor.

A Dog Wins a Woman.

It is related that Dr. Everhard, of Scranton, Pa., has a wonderfully intelligent setter dog, named Ben. Mrs. Everhard, who was never fond of dogs at all, and who had disliked all the other dogs the doctor had ever owned, but was away on a visit when he bought Ben. Before she returned, the Doctor told Ben hat this mistress had an antipathy to dogs and that he would have to behave himself as well as he knew how if he expected to win her favor. This was repeated a number of times, and the dog seemed to understand it, for, although he had never seen Mrs. Everhard before, he laid his head in her lap the very first chance he got after her return, rolled his large intelligent eyes toward here, looked pleadingly into her face, wagged his shaggy tail, and in other ways acted as if he knew that she was his master's wife. Ben has a splendid head and an almost human expression in his eyes, and his intelligent behavior won Mrs. Everhard's affection and good will at once.

State Convention W. C. T. U.

By request, we publish the following:

The 14th Annual Convention of the Pennsylvania W. C. T. U. held in Pittsburg, Oct. 10, 11, 12, drew together the largest number of delegates, with the widest representation, of any ever held in the State.

Seven years ago our Convention was held there at the head waters of the Ohio; since then, while we have only doubled our years, our membership has increased ten fold. To the small company of women then convened, who hoped for and prophesied growth, no vision came of the grand reality of the present.

At that time, knocking hopelessly at the doors of our legislative hall with a petition for a prohibitory amendment, they were told that "the senate would not grant it, though one rose from the dead." But "the W. C. T. U. knows no defeat." Petitioning continued, and lo! the doors have been opened to us and our petition has been favorably received.

The seventy delegates of '81 going to and fro from their place of meeting, received scarce a passing notice, while to-day, though the business of Pittsburgh is not materially interrupted by our proceedings, yet the procession of 700 women marching to Old City Hall for dinner, was an impressive sight to its inhabitants, and more than one hat was lifted, with a fervent "God bless you, ladies."

The arrangements for entertaining this large gathering were most complete and admirable. The elegant homes of two cities were opened with a most delightful warmth of hospitality, and the delegates' badges furnished free transportation on the street cars.

A formal address of welcome was not given, but a silent greeting was extended by the perfume of roses freshly supplied each day, and banners and familiar mottoes made each White Ribboner feet at home. Noticeable among the decorations in the church was a floral design with the suggestive motto, "Our Aim, God's Glory."

An excellent object lesson was placed before the convention in a large map of the State, which represented the present status of the liquor traffic in Pennsylvania. The eight counties, which have secured Prohibition are shaded in old gold. Over 7,000 licensed places are located upon the map, and nearly 300 places of manufacture are designated; the distilleries by skull and cross bones; the breweries by a black cross. It is expected that small lithograph copies will be made, and thousands of copies circulated through the State as a campaign document for the Constitutional Amendment.

We wish to record our admiration of the loyal devotion of our honored President, who has stood at her post through sickness and bereavement, thus illustrating a resolution of our very first convention, that "we will not give up the contest until we have a strict prohibitory law." We quote the following emphatic statement from her annual address: We are opposed to all license laws high or low. We did not ask for the Brooks law or for any law that tolerates the saloons, but we endorse the solemn and comprehensive utterance of the M. E. Conference. The number of saloons has been reduced by the restrictive provisions of our present law—we wait to see whether there will be a corresponding decrease in the resultant crime and misery."

Fraternal greetings were presented from the National Reform Association, from the order of Good Templars and from the National Woman Suffrage Association. In pledging co-operation with the work of the latter, and adopting a department of suffrage, we are simply following where the providence of God has been leading us. As the ballot in the hands of our brothers is often used to strengthen the traffic which ruins so many homes, we desire the same power, in order to protect all our homes.

A telegram of greeting was received from Illinois W. C.T.U. Convention. The passage, Acts 25, 11-12 aroused interest and discussion.

The work of the Sunshine Mission was pleasantly introduced to us by one of its Secretaries.

A five minutes talk from Deborah Leeds impressed us with the importance of furnishing our children with something good to read. "As well give them poison to drink as poison to read," said she.

A judge of one of our district courts whose name and license record are both White, was present and complimented us by saying, "Men may gain practical wisdom from the manner in which the W. C. T. U. transacts business."

The devotional meetings were our choicest seasons, and our world-wide Union and its workers were tenderly remembered at the noontide hour of each busy day.

The evening addresses by Mrs. Foster and Mrs. Barney filled the church to its utmost capacity.

We cannot do justice to the reports of our Secretaries and Treasurer in a brief report like this, suffice it to say 200 new Unions have been organized and a delegation of 47 elect-ed ladies represent the Keystone State at "The National."

Prominent suggestions of the Plan of Work Committee were the registration of voters for the sake of judicious use of literature on Constitutional Prohibition; a Bureau of Exchange for circulation of valuable papers and the need of parliamentary drill in local Unions.

The programme designated Friday evening for the public meeting of Y. W. C. T. Unions and it proved to be one of the most enjoyable sessions of the convention. A processional hymn, presentation of banner and basket of flowers followed by more substantial gifts to Superintendents enlivened the proceedings. The State Superintendent, reported 400 Y's with an enrolled membership of over 13,000, "pledged to total abstinence as individuals and to organized efforts for the prohibition of the liquor traffic."

The shadow of "resolutions" fell upon our closing session, in which differences of opinion were freely and somewhat bitterly expressed, but our hearts are united in love of the cause and our hands are clasped to bear the burdens and do the work which the Lord gives

Are Your Pullets Laying?

This question is often asked at this season by persons keeping hens; and the answer is too often, "No! and suppose they wont lay until eggs get cheap next spring, just my luck." It ought not to be your luck. Pullets hatched in April last should have commenced laying a month ago; May and June hatches should be laying this month. It is not too late now to force early pullets to laying in a few weeks. The late ones, as late as July and August, can be brought forward so as to pay well, while eggs bring good prices. Strictly fresh, pullets' eggs will probably retail as high as 50 or 60 cents per dozen, in Boston and New York markets, before March 1st, 1889. Mrs. L. J. Wilson, of Northboro, Mass., says: "In past years I have noticed when my pullets laid at all, they would lay a litter and then either want to set or mope around for weeks doing no laying. Last fall and winter there was no interruption of their laying. The results were the best I ever saw in an experience of eighteen years. My thirty pullets were all just six months old when they commenced laying. I never saw such return of eggs. In just eight weeks after they commenced to lay, the thirty pullets laid 1437¾ eggs, which I ascribed to the use of Sheridan's Condition Powder, to make hens lay." The new and enlarged edition of the Farmer's Poultry Guide contains much information on the above subject. I. S. Johnson & Co, 22 Custom House Street, Boston, Mass., (the only manufacturers of Sheridans Powder, to make hens lay) will send a Guide post-paid, to any address for 25 cents in stamps; or two 25 cent packs of Sheridan's Powder and the book for 60 cents, five packs, $1. A large 2¼ pound can of the Powder for $1.20, postpaid, and the Guide free; six cans $5, express prepaid; a testimonial circular free to any one. Send for it.

Rep. 1t Oct. 25, 1888.

Married Woman's Act of 1887.

In legal circles there has been a question as the meaning of what is known as the married woman's act of 1887. Judge Krebs, of Clearfield, has been the first to pass his opinion upon the law. The case was argued before him about two weeks ago, at Bellefonte, and his opinion was filed a few days ago. The case was that of Penns Valley bank obtaining a note from a married woman for a debt of her husband of which she had no knowledge, and which was not contracted for necessaries in the family. The note obtained from her was termed a "tight note" and was at once entered up against her. Judge Krebs holds that under the act of 1887 the note was not valid and the judgment was opened absolute, that the law contemplates a married woman can not be held responsible, even upon a note given by herself, for a debt of her husband's contracting.—Altoona Tribune.

—Col. J. F. Bates, the Chief of the Free-Delivery Service, in his annual report to the Postmaster General, states the increase in the number of free-delivery offices during the past year was 169, making the total number of offices 358. These offices are only located in towns having a population of ten thousand or over, or where the receipts are over $10,000. The whole number of carriers employed is 6,346. There were over ninety millions more letters delivered last year than the year before, an increase of over 11 per cent. while the increase in the number of newspapers delivered was over eighty-six millions or 25 per cent. The increase in the number of letters collected was 143,000,000 or about 23 per cent. while the increase in the number of newspapers collected was twenty-five millions, or 25 per cent. The excess of postage on local matter over total cost of service is over two million and a quarter dollars.

A little Buffalo girl was not feeling well, and her parents suggested that she might be about to have chicken-pox, then prevalent. Facts About Date Trees.

New Yorks Mail and Express.

'The palm trees upon which dates grow are all female,' remarked a dealer the other day. 'These immense fruit-bearing trees, which produce the vast wealth of Arabia, are a pleasing and picturesque sight to the eye. The male of the pollen bearing flowers of the date kind always grows on a separate tree, and as a pollen is produced in vast quantities, it is not absolutely necessary in palm groves to have more than one male stem to about forty fruit-bearing ones. It is for this reason that the Arabs never raise palms from seed, as it is very bifficult to distinguish the sex of the seedling. They detach the suckers from the roots of the female trees which is already known to them as a fruit bearer. These suckers follow the sex of the mother tree.

Penn's Cave.

From the Farmer's Friend.

During a recent visit to Centre county, this State, we enjoyed the pleasure, through the courtesy of Capt. John A. Hunter, of visiting Centre county's wonderful natural curiosity, Penn's Cave. This cave, while unknown to the outside world generally, has been visited by a few of the people in the immediate vicinity for more than thirty years and is just now becoming attractive to scientific men and visitors in other parts of the country. It is located at Farmer's Mills, about twenty miles from Bellefonte and three miles from Spring Mills, a station on the Lewisburg and Tyrone railroad. It consists of a lake of clear spring water eighty feet below the surface of the ground, and is explored by the use of a large flat boat of a capacity of twenty persons. The boat carries at the prow several large gasoline torches, which light the way brilliantly. The distance from entrance to extreme end is a little more than one-fourth of a mile, the width from twenty to sixty feet, and the heighth from surface of water to ceiling varies from eight feet to thirty feet. The entire ceiling and sides are of grey limestone and many, various and beautiful are the formations of stalactites and stalagmites therein. Many of them very similar to those found in the Caverns of Luray. Penn's Cave is certainly a great curiosity, and anyone visiting Centre county should not fail to see it. A good Summer hotel is located near the mouth of the cave, kept by Mr. Samuel Long, the owner of the entire property.

When Isaac Hopper, the distinguished old Quaker, met a boy with a dirty face or with dirty hands, he would stop him and inquire: 'Has the eever studied chemistry?' The boy, with a wondrous stare, would answer, 'No.' 'Well I will teach thee how to perform a curious chemical experiment,' the old gentlemen would answer. 'Go home, take a piece of soap put it in water, and rub it briskly on thy hands and face. Thou hast no idea what a beautiful froth it will make, and how much whiter thy skin will be. That's a chemical experiment: I advise thee to try it.'

The Battle Logically Fought Out.

The New York Herald ciphers the Presidential election down to a fine point It depends on the Empire State, it says. The State, it continues, depends on the city, and the city depends on the degree of harmony among the Democrats. Starting again, it says the Democracy are divided, and unless they unite the factions they will be hopelessly so. The action of the factions and the letters of the candidates forbid the hope of harmony, It will be a fight to the end. Therefore, according to the Herald's logic, the Presidential battle will be lost. CLEVELAND will be beaten!

Not a Surplus, But a Deficit.

Comparing the estimated revenues of the Government from all sources with the amounts Congress has appropriated for the year, the New York Sun says, there will be no surplus whatever, but an actual deficit of three or four millions of dollars This view is supported by estimates and experience, and is a conclusion from which there is no escape. The conclusion supports the affirmation that the Administration is not equal to an intelligent comprehension of the financial problems which the affairs of the Government are constantly presenting.

—A queer case of credulity has come to light in Carlisle. For three weeks a band of gypsies were encamped near Littletown, a village just across the Cumberland line, in Adams county, and on Wednesday Jacob Felker, an old farmer, conferred with them and was told that any money he might hide on a certain spot on his farm would double itself in a night. To test the matter he placed $10 in deposit and the next morning found $20. This so elated him that he went to the Littletown National Bank, drew out $800, and deposited it, but next morning. to his dismay, the $800 was gone, and so were the gypsies. The gypsies were captured and four of their number lodged in jail in Adams county.—Philadelphia Times.

William Humes, James Harris, Win Montgomery, E. M. Blanchard, Esq., William H. Wilkinson and D. S. Keller, Esq. The number of mourners was very large.

Salt Rheum

The agonies of those who suffer from severe salt rheum are indescribable. The cleansing, healing, purifying influences of Hood's Sarsaparilla are unequalled by any other medicine.

Only those who have suffered from this disease in its worst form can imagine the extent of my affliction. I tried many medicines, but failed to receive benefit until I took Hood's Sarsaparilla. Then the disease began to subside, the

The industrial masses of this country believe in the Republican attitude on the question.—Albany Journal.

John L. Sullivan is only twenty nine years of age. It is said that he has made and spent $300,000 in the last three years and now, with an impaired constitution and a weakened right arm, he once more faces the problem of life.

—Apple-pie should be eaten while it is yet florescent, white or creamy yellow, with the merest drip of candied juice along the edges (as if the flavor were so good to itself that its own lips watered), of a mild and modest warmth; the sugar suggesting jelly, yet not jellied; the morsels of apple neither dissolved, nor yet in original substance, but hanging, as it were, in a trance between the spirit and the flesh of applehood.

The horse's excuse for smashing the buggy—"I was driven to it."

ROBERT COOKE, JR.,
Sheriff of Centre County.

Another Bellefonte Orator.

On Thursday evening John G. Love, Esq., spoke to the Williamsport Republicans on the campaign issues and the Gazette and Bulletin terms it a rare treat and thus reports what he said:

The gentleman spoke for a little over an hour, and his address from beginning to end was filled with solid facts. He referred to the great advance and rapid progress of the United States during the past quarter of a century, and attributed the prevailing prosperity to the protective policy inaugurated by the Republican party. The Democratic party, after its long period of misrule, turned the government over to the Republican administration bankrupt and on the verge of Rebellion. After passing through one of the most gigantic wars that any country on the face of the earth was ever called upon to quell, the Republican party proceeded to build up the shattered nation, and its success proved the wonder and admiration of the civilized world. In less than twenty-five years the nation had recovered from its almost ruined condition, and had become the most prosperous on earth. This was wholly due to the Republican legislation in the interest of labor and home manufactures. Mr. Love argued at length to show wherein labor and capital were protected, and depicted the ruin and depression that would surely follow if the protective tariff should be abolished and America opened up to competition with the manufactures of England and other nations of Europe. That his argument on this point carried conviction was attested by the frequent applause and expressions of approval from the audience.

PRAISE FOR MR. M'CORMICK.

Before concluding Mr. Love referred to the Congressional contest in this district, and paid a glowing tribute to the character and worth of Hon. H. C. McCormick. He urged the Republicans to stand by the standard of their representative in Congress, who had proved himself so deserving of their full confidence and support. Mr. McCormick had been tried and not found wanting. He was right on the great questions of the day, he was the friend of labor as his record on the floor of the House of Representatives shows, and he is a man who ought to receive the suffrages of all lovers of good Government. These kindly allusions to the popular Congressman were followed with applause at frequent intervals, showing conclusively that the gentleman had the sympathy of all present. At one point he was interrupted by three rousing cheers "for H. C. McCormick."

Mr. Love said that he was also acquainted with Rev. Charles T. Steck, for whom as an individual he had the kindest regard. Mr. Steck, however, was a man who had always proven a failure in the conduct of his own business, and therefore it was reasonable to suppose that he would fail in his efforts to do business for others. It was not a safe policy to try experiments, especially in the choice of public servants. It would be a dangerous experiment to take the business of this Congressional district out of the competent and trustworthy hands of Hon. H. C. McCormick, and place it in the care of Rev. Charles T. Steck, a man who had failed in every calling that he has undertaken.

Mr. Love also referred to the Judgeship contest. He called attention to the importance of the office, and held that if the people made a mistake in the choice of a man they alone would be to blame.

At the conclusion of his remarks he was tendered a vote of thanks and three cheers.

—The State Association of Poor Directors in session at Uniontown, on Thursday, voted in favor of extending the limit of the Soldiers' Orphan's Schools, which will expire in 1889 unless the Legislature decides otherwise. The following officers of the Association were elected for the ensuing year: President, Geo. Roney, Philadelphia; First Vice President, Daniel Herr, Lancaster; Second Vice President, Lydia Walton, Chester; Third, Thomas Reed, Beaver; Fourth, A. A. Elter, Franklin; Fifth, W. H. Quay, Allegheny; Corresponding Secretary, R. D. McGonnigle, Pittsburg; Treasurer, Wm. M. Brown, Erie. The Association adjourned to meet at Altoona the third Tuesday of Oct. 1889.

Dr. Theel, the great Specialist, for nervous debility, blood poisons, kidney and special diseases, has yet to find an equal in curing such diseases. He has complete mastery of the allopathic, homœopathic and eclectic systems of medicines which gives him the knowledge and ability to cure diseases pronounced incurable by leading physicians. If suffering we would advise you to consult him personally or by letter, at 538 North Fourth St., Philadelphia, Pa.

WHAT AILS YOU?

Do you feel dull, languid, low-spirited, lifeless, and indescribably miserable, both physically and mentally; experience a sense of fullness or bloating after eating, or of "goneness," or emptiness of stomach in the morning, tongue coated, bitter or bad taste in mouth, irregular appetite, dizziness, frequent headaches, blurred eyesight, "floating specks" before the eyes, nervous prostration or exhaustion, irritability of temper, hot flushes, alternating with chilly sensations, sharp, biting, transient pains here and there, cold feet, drowsiness after meals, wakefulness, or disturbed and unrefreshing sleep, constant, indescribable feeling of dread, or of impending calamity?

If you have all, or any considerable number of these symptoms, you are suffering from that most common of American maladies—Bilious Dyspepsia, or Torpid Liver, associated with Dyspepsia, or Indigestion. The more complicated your disease has become, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. No matter what stage it has reached, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will subdue it, if taken according to directions for a reasonable length of time. If not cured, complications multiply and Consumption of the Lungs, Skin Diseases, Heart Disease, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, or other grave maladies are quite liable to set in and, sooner or later, induce a fatal termination.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery acts powerfully upon the Liver, and through that great blood-purifying organ, cleanses the system of all blood-taints and impurities, from whatever cause arising. It is equally efficacious in acting upon the Kidneys, and other excretory organs, cleansing, strengthening, and healing their diseases. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it promotes digestion and nutrition, thereby building up both flesh and strength. In malarial districts, this wonderful medicine has gained great celebrity in curing Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Dumb Ague, and kindred diseases.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

CURES ALL HUMORS,

from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula. Salt-rheum, "Fever-sores," Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great Eating Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Eczema, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Hip-joint Disease, "White Swellings," Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands. Send ten cents in stamps for a large Treatise, with colored plates, on Skin Diseases, or the same amount for a Treatise on Scrofulous Affections.

"FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE."

Thoroughly cleanse it by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength and bodily health will be established.

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofula of the Lungs, is arrested and cured by this remedy, if taken in the earlier stages of the disease. From its marvelous power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now world-famed remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "CONSUMPTION CURE," but abandoned that name as too restrictive for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for Consumption, but for all Chronic Diseases of the Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Chronic Nasal Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Severe Coughs, and kindred affections, it is an efficient remedy.

Sold by Druggists, at $1.00, or Six Bottles for $5.00.

Prudence! Prudence!

In medication, as in aught else, prudence should be our guide. Yet thousands cast it to the winds. Every new nostrum finds its patrons, the medical empirics of every false school have their gulls. Every change in the gamut of humbug is rung successfully—for a time at least—the notes being furnished by the credulous. In happy contrast to the many advertised impostures of the day stands Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, now in its third decade of popularity, approved and recommended by physicians, indorsed by the press of many lands, sought and prized by invalids everywhere It is an ascertained specific for and preventive of malarial diseases, chronic indigestion, liver complaint and constipation, checks the growth of rheumatism and neuralgia, is a peerless invigorant and useful diuretic. Nervous people benefit by it.

The Late Thomas R. Reynolds.

Saturday morning the body of the late Thomas R. Reynolds reposed in a very elegant gold-barred Stein casket in the east parlor of his residence. His features are exceedingly peaceful, pleasant and natural.

At the head of the casket was a pillow of very beautiful cream colored flowers upon which is the word "Asleep." A floral cross was resting on the lower part of the casket and at its foot was another equally beautiful floral cross, at the top of which were sprays of wheat.

—It is often said that no one has the right to vote who has a bet or wager pending on the result of an election. This idea, however, is not correct, as Judge Woodward, of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, some years since decided that a voter could not be deprived of his suffrage on the ground of having bet or wagered on the result of a pending election, saying that such action was in direct conflict with the new State Constistution. Therefore, a qualified voter is entitled to vote, although he may have a bet or wager on the result of the election.

My Poor Back!

That "poor back" is held responsible for more than its share of the sufferings of mankind. If your dog bites a man who kicks it, do you blame the dog? On the same principle the kidneys utter their protest against nervousness, impure blood, and resulting constipation. These force them to do extraordinary work in ridding the system of the poisons which are the result of effete matter retained in the blood. Then the sufferer says the back aches; the kidneys are diseased. "Not yet;" but they will be unless the nerves are strengthened, the blood purified, and the constipation removed. These are the causes of kidney troubles, and Paine's Celery Compound removes them quickly. With its tonic, purifying, and laxative effect, it also strengthens the weak kidneys, making it almost infallible in curing all diseases of the nerves and kidneys. If your hopes of cure have not been realized, try Paine's Celery Compound; it gives perfect health to all who complain of "their poor backs." Price $1.00.

Is Consumption Incurable?

Read the following: Mr. C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark., says: "Was down with Abscess of Lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an Incurable Consumptive. Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, am now on my third bottle, and able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made."

Jesse Middlewart, Decatur, Ohio, says: "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of Lung Troubles. Was given up by doctors. Am now in best of health." Try it. Sample bottles free at W. C. Keplinger & Co's drug store.

—The sessions of the Methodist District Conference at Philipsburg have been rendered interesting by the receiving of reports from the Pastors and Sunday-school Superintendents from all parts of the district. A resolution was presented and unanimously adopted by the conference requesting the reappointment of Rev. Geo. Leidy as presiding elder of the Altoona district. District Steward Wm. W. McClintock gave his report for the Howard district, J. W. Mattern for Philipsburg, and C. G. Rupe for Pine Grove. The Sunday-school superintendents who gave reports were M. W. McClintock of Howard; W, T. Baer, of Philipsburg; G. W. Williams, of Port Matilda; G. C. Rupe, for Pine Grove. The conference will reconvene at Tyrone when Presiding Elder Leidy calls them together.

The Handsomest Lady in Bellefonte

Remarked to a friend the other day that she knew Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs was a superior remedy, as it stopped her cough instantly when others had no effect whatever. So to prove this and convince you of its merits, any druggist will give you a sample bottle free. Large size 50c and $1.

—The largest passenger locomotive ever built is now under construction at the Hinkley Works, Boston, and is intended for use on the Atchison railroad. It was designed by G. S. Story, of New York. It carries two cabs, one over the boiler for the engineer and the other in the usual place for the fireman. The driving wheels, which are the largest ever made, are of paper with steel tires. Economy in fuel is accomplished by a pump which utilizes the exhaust steam to heat the water, and by a large combustion chamber which burns all the gas. It is expected the engine will make eighty miles an hour with ten choaches on an ordinary road.

WINKLEMAN'S SEDATIVE TEETHING BALSAM.—An unfailing remedy. Allaying all pain and promptly facilitating the process of teething in children. Unsurpassed for the instant relief of toothache. 25c. a bottle. At druggists, or sent by mail on receipt of price.

—One of the most remarkable runs ever made on the Cumberland Valley road was accomplished on Thursday last. The Day Express left Hagerstown, Md., two hours late, and between that place and Harrisburg, 75 miles, 50 miles of the lost time was made up. At times the train ran at the rate of 65 miles an hour, which is probably the fastest on record on that road. Farmers in the fields stood gazing in wonder at the flying train.

—There are people in Bellefonte who are in real need of the ordinary comforts and necessities of life. It seems to us that in a town where many so-called Christian men and ladies have means and leisure to aid this should not be. If any are disposed to devote themselves to the beautiful, benevolent and Christlike work of alleviating the sorrows and trials of others we believe we can put them on the track of such a mission. The strange thing is that such people do not hear of such cases and fly to their aid. They are coming to our knowledge daily.

SUDDEN DEATH.

Mr. Thomas R. Reynolds Expires While Seated at the Supper Table.

Death seldom comes more unexpectedly than to Mr. Thomas R. Reynolds, a prominent citizen of Bellefonte, on Wednesday evening. He was seated at the table with his wife and daughter, Mrs. James Pierpont. He had just finished carving the meat when he threw his head back and expired in his chair, the cause being heart disease.

Mr. Reynolds had experienced several former attacks of sudden but brief illness and during the past week had been unwell. He was better on Wednesday and was supposed to be almost entirely well. He was naturally strong and robust and, considering his age, unusually well preserved.

He was wealthy, lived in elegant style and was prominently connected throughout the state. He was one of five brothers. The eldest is Major William F. Reynolds, who is still an active citizen of Bellefonte. Elisha, recently deceased was the second brother. The third was Charles A., who died many years ago. Thomas R., the subject of this notice, was the fourth brother, and Hon. Samuel Reynolds, of Lancaster, is the youngest.

The deceased was born in Columbia county, on the 11th of March, 1824. His age was 64 years, 7 months and 6 days. He had resided here many years. He was married to the present Mrs. Reynolds—then Mrs. Blymer—only a short time ago, and the shock to her and to his daughter, Mrs. Pierpont, must be exceeding severe, and they have the earnest sympathy of many friends. Deceased was a communicant member of the Episcopal church and a regular attendant at its services.

Gatesburg Gleanings.

Because of the wet weather it will be some time before the farmers can begin husking their corn.

Jacob K. Rider's cider mill and press is kept humming every day making cider.

The Democrats are lecreasing in numbers every day, in our town, and before the 6th of November there will not be any use for more then one kind of tickets here, and that will be Harrison and Morton.

The long whistle was blown on last Thursday evening at the Gatesburg mines to call the men to their places on Friday morning. They should be more careful how they blow. The signal given was the same as that used in the event of fire, and more then one party thought there was fire and were preparing to go to fight the flames. When the Dry Hollow Fire Company heard the sound of the whistle they made preparations and waited only for a dispatch to come to the rescue.

How's This for Replenishing the Earth ?

Mrs. Kate Peightal, of this town, attended a reunion of the family of her brother, John Kemp, at New Castle, Lawrence Co., Pa., on September 20th ultimo. Mr. Kemp is 77 years of age, and his wife is living, at the age of 76 years. He is the father of 17 children, among whom were two pairs of twins. Ten of the children, 5 sons and 5 daughters are alive and all are married and have big families. He is an Old Tippecanoe voter himself, and this fall he and his five sons and five sons-in-laws, and eleven grandsons, twenty-two in all, will march to the polls and vote for the illustrious grandson of Old Tippecanoe. At the reunion there were present seventy-seven grandchildren and great grandchildren. Eighty-four persons, children, grandchildren, and great grandchildren, sat down to dinner, and there were two sons and their progeny, who were not present. We think this family bursts the record all to flinders. Mrs. Peightal came home from her visit on Friday evening, being gone nearly four weeks. Her brother, Mr. Philip Kemp, of Pleasant Gap, near Bellefonte, who was also at the reunion, accompanied Mrs. Peightal home and is now at her house.—Philipsburg Ledger.

—All cooks do not understand the different effects produced by hard and soft water in cooking meat and vegetables. Peas and brans cooked in hard water, containing lime and gypsum, will not boil tender, because these substances harden vegetable caseine. Many vegetables, as onions, boil nearly tasteless in soft water, because all the flavor is boiled out. The addition of salt often checks this, as in the case of onions, causing vegetables to retain the peculiar flavoring principles, besides such nutritious matter as it might be lost in soft water. For extracting the juice of meat to make a broth or soup, soft water, unsalted and cold at first, is the best, for it much more readily penetrates the tissue; but for boiling where the juice should be retained, hard water or soft water salted is preferable; and the meat should be put in while the water is boiling, so as to seal up the pores at once.

—Coffee is a handy and harmless disinfectant. Experiments have been made in Paris to prove this. A quantity of meat was hung up in a closed room until decomposed, and then a chafing dish was introduced and 500 grammes of coffee thrown on the fire. In a few minutes the room was completely disinfected. In another room sulphuretted hydrogen and amonia were developed, and ninety grammes of coffee destroyed the smell in about half a minute. It is also stated that coffee destroys the smell of musk, castœrum and asfacetida. As a proof that the noxious smells are really decomposed by the fumes of the coffee and not merely overpowered by them, it is stated that the first vapors of the coffee were not smelled at all, and are therefore chemically absorbed while the other smells gradually diminish as the fumigation continues: The best way to effect the fumigation is to pound the coffee into a mortar, and then strew it on a hot iron plate, which, however, must not be red hot.

He has always been an ardent advocate of the rights of the wage earner, and will prove a formidable opponent to Mr. Kerr, the Democratic candidate.—Philipsburg Ledger.

General Hastings in the West.

Wherever our tall fellow citizen, D. H. Hastings, Esq., delivers political addresses he creates a sensation and arouses enthusiasm. As an example we quote parts of a report of his address in Toleda, Ohio, and its electrical effect on his auditors. Col. James P. Coburn spoke at the same meeting. Gen. Hastings said :

"LADIES AND GENTLEMEN :—I am a republican in good standing in the state of Pennsylvania. Pennsylvania is the place where good Republicans grow in abundance. Pennsylvania has too much coal, too much iron, too much agricultural and mineral wealth, too many wage earners, too many soldiers, too many widows and orphans of their fallen comrades ; Pennsylvania is too rich in material wealth and patriotism to be anything else than Republican. Pennsylvania has to-night 100,000 majority for Harrison and Morton. Pennsylvania is proud of Ohio. Ohio is the youngest sister of Pennsylvania. Why, bless your hearts, the most of you moved over from Pennsylvania to Ohio. We in Pennsylvania, too, have the fathers in Israel of the campaign of 1840. We, too, have the cider barrel, the log cabin and that same old coon ! Pennsylvania is proud of Ohio because Ohio produced a James A. Garfield, a John Sherman and elected a man governor who said "No rebel flags shall be returned while I am governor !" Pennsylvania will be satisfied with Ohio if she gives 50,000 majority for Harrison and Morton, but with nothing less !"

IT WAS A REMARKABLE INTRODUCTION and a magnificent peroration by a remarkable man and a magnificent orater. The audience was totally unprepared for such an outburst of enthusiasm on the start. General Hastings may be tall, but he appeared twice as tall as he drew himself up and raised his voice until the iron arches of the truss roof rang with his eloquence. When he exclaimed Pennsylvania has 100,000 majority for Harrison and Morton, it would have done any weak-kneed, doubting Republican a world of good to have heard the cheering When with a military sweep of his hand, he pointeed to the old campaigners on the platform and said.

"THAT SAME OLD COON,"

carried by Hardy Cole, president of the Veteran Voters Club, the audience was wild with enthusiasm. And when he referred to the rebel flag episode and Gov. Foraker, old soldiers and old veterans all over the hall sprang from their seats, and with cheers and shouts of enthusiasm, paid a tribute to the speaker of the evening which must have assured him that he was welcome. There have been political meetings in this city when the applause and enthusiasm, all told would not equal that concentrated into that five minutes' introduction by Gen. Hastings last night at Memorial hall.

He then stated that this is a campaign which appeals to the intelligence of the people. There ought not to be any partisanship about this question. It is not a question of reconstruction. It is not a question of olive branch or bloody shirt. It is a question of business, and it should be conducted upon business methods.

GEN. HASTINGS CONCLUDED HIS ADDRESS amid a storm of applause. To attempt a graphic description of what he said, and his manner of saying it is impossible. The address defies the power of decription. The best blood of Irish ancestry flows in his veins. His father emigrated to this country during the "good old free trade days," and was employed on this side of the water for 50 cents a day during Democratic administraton just previous to the war. Yet when days of protection came Gen. Hasting's father received $1.50 per day, and succeeded in bringing up eight children to become intelligent men and women. As Gen. Hastings said last night, he was a living example of the benefits of protection. But for the change in the economical policy of the nation his father would have been held down with an iron hand and all attempts to benefit himself and his family would have been futile. Gen. Hasting's home is at Bellefonte, Penna., and he is at prsent Adjutant General of that great state. "A Republican in good standing in the state of Pennsylvania," he will yet be heard from in the history of the nation. He is still a young man and with the qualifications which go to make up a successful public man.

—W. Keith Hicks, a citizen of Huntingdon, while in Tyrone on Tuesday night, attempted to get on a moving freight train. While doing so he slipped and fell beneath the wheels. His injuries were extremely shocking and he did not survive them. Nevertheless, we suppose men and boys will continue to climb on moving trains and it will be as prolific a source of injury and death as any other one cause.

Wedded at Clearfield.

Special to the Altoona Tribune.

CLEARFIELD, Pa, October 17.—The marriage of Miss Mary B. Dill, of this place, to Mr. Alex E. Patton to-day was among the prominent social events of the season. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride's parents, on Second street, by Rev. W. H. Dill, A M, father of the bride. Only the immediate relatives and a few special friends of the high contracting parties were in attendance. Among these were the following : Hon John Patton, father of the groom ; Hon Jonathan Boynton, grandfather of the bride ; S S Blair, Esq., superintendent of the Tyrone division ; Hon. A. H. Dill, United States marshal; Senator W. W. Betts, Hon. E. A. Bigley, Col. E. A. Irvin and others. The bride was the recipient of many useful and valuable presents.

Mr. and Mrs. Patton departed on a special train for Tyrone, whence by fast line they started on a wedding tour to visit the principal cities of the west. Returning they will visit Niagara Falls, Albany, New York and Philadelphia. Upon their return home, they will take up their residence in Curwensville, Pa., where the groom is cashier of the Curwensville bank.

About the Next Congressman.

Theodore P. Rynder, the protection candidate for Congress, is a poor man, but he is a gentleman of bright, quick intellect and excellent attainments. He is thoroughly versed in politics and is a strong public speaker. He is a representative Protectionist and that cause, so dear to the heart of every Republican, will be in safe keeping if he is elected to congress, as we believe he will be. He has always been aided by his wife, who is a highly cultivated lady. She finds time to take from her domestic duties to write very strong articles on literary topics and politics and her pen produces poetry of much merit.

His son, Master Lee Rynder, is a bright lad, and is now attending the Bellefonte High School. Thus it will be seen that Mr. Rynder, the candidate of the Union labor party and representing many of the the principles of Republicanism, will be a credit to this district in the halls of congress. In Washington city he is well known and respected; and his presence there has always exerted a strong influence. He has done as much toward securing pensions for soldier as any other one man in the United States and for it has never received a cent. But the people will have an opportuoity of rewarding him on the sixth of November by sending him to Congress.

IN MEMORY OF AN AGED LADY.—The following notice, which we find in a recent number of the Lutheran Observer, is about a very highly respected lady who was a resident of this county :

MCBRIDE. On the 9th ult. at her residence in Benner township, Centre county, Pa., Mrs. Eva McBride, whose husband has long since been called from earth, departed this life, at the ripe age of 82 years, 3 months, and 6 days.

This venerable Christian mother in Israel was baptised in infancy, and received into the Lutheran church at an early age. She was a consistent member of the church of her choice, and a regular attendant upon the public services up to the time of her disability. She was confined to her room and chair for several years, bearing her infirmity with Christian patience and resignation. She was a kind mother, an affectionate wife, and a sympathetic and helpful neighbor and friend. She leaves two children—a son and a daughter—to mourn her death. What is their loss is her eternal gain.

W. A. TROSTLE.

—When a man makes a good resolve we are for giving him the benefit of he effort. So we print what Sullivan the bruiser says : "There was a time in my sickness when I was thought to be dying, but God was good to me and gave me one more chance. I've fully made up my mind what to do with that chance, and I will never again till I die touch a glass of beer or a drop of any kind of intoxicating liquor. No man who is a friend of mine will ever ask me to take a drink again." Now let all his admirers go and do likewise and stick to it; and may they live to some purpose.

HON. A. F. THOMPSON, President.
GEO. F. STEAHLIN, Secretary.
Orwigsburg, Schuylkill Co. Pa.,

—A great deal of whiskey is sold in Bellefonte as it is seldom a person can go on the street without seeing some individual whose sole occupation seems to be to color the air blue with oaths, try to hold up a lamp post or make the letter Z as he staggers through the streets. It is diffiult to imagine how even "free whiskey" could make it any worse.

TRY IT YOURSELF.

"It is of no use to argue the question, Philip, I am neither stubborn nor opinionated, I have simply had a lesson that will last a lifetime."

"Look here, Jack! you are like some old bachelor who has been jilted by some woman, and goes about declaring all women false."

"Not at all! my brother Charley died of Bright's disease, brought on by using one of these so called 'blood purifiers'—the kind you see attractively advertised in every nook and corner. It contains iodide of potassium, a drug useful in extreme cases when cautiously given under a doctor's supervision, death-dealing to all who take it in quantity. If your brother had died under such circumstances, you would hate patent medicines as I do."

"I do dislike the name of that mis-called 'blood purifier', for I have heard a first class physician say it is the cause of half the cases of Bright's disease in the country, and it is strange the proprietors have not been prosecuted for selling it. But I was recommending Vinegar Bitters and that does not contain any mineral, narcotic or other hurtful drug."

"Oh, nobody supposes that old woman's remedy will hurt anybody ; the question is will it cure anything? I'd as soon think of taking some of my grandmother's herb teas."

"You would be better off, Jack, if you had some of that tea to tone up your system now, instead of taking a glass of brandy to make you sleep one night, and perhaps a bottle of beer next."

"Is this a temperance lecture, Phil?"

"No, it is a Vinegar Bitters lecture, I've taken the medicine more or less for fifteen years, and look the world over, you will not find a helthier man than I am."

"What is all this nonsense about old style and new style Vinegar Bitters ; are they different?"

"Yes, the old style looks like coffee with milk in, the new style like coffee without milk. The man who made the old style for twenty years—a practical chemist—made a milder, pleasanter preperation, adding to it here, and taking from it there, until he produced, my wife says, the finest medicine ever made. It cured her of constipation, and it cures the children of hives and all the little ailments they ever have. If my wife thinks they have worms, she doses them with old style. We always have both kinds in the house, and together, they keep the doctor away."

'And you insist that the pudding—"

"Is the eating—precisely. Jack, get a bottle of the old style Vinegar Bitters—men, I think, prfer old style usually—try it, and you will then be like an old bachelor who, after railing against women for years, falls in love with a good woman at last. You will say there are good and bad patent medicines, but Vinegar Bitters is the best of the lot."

"All right, Phil, to please you, I'll try it and report results." 20-37-18m

NEW RECEIPT BOOK.
His Last & Crowning Life Work.

Dr Chase's Third, Last and Complete Receipt Book and Household Physician, or the Book for the Million, contains nearly 900 pages and sells for $2.25 in cloth binding and $2.50 in imported oil cloth, marble edge, and is justly by him called
'THE CROWNING WORK OF MY LIFE.'
It is the result of over half a century's observation, study and experience. Yet this embodies no compilation of his former books, IT IS WHOLLY A NEW BOOK. If 30 years ago he could produce a book that has had a sale of over fifteen hundred thousand copies, and has made his name familiar in nearly every English-speaking home in the United States, Canada, and South America, what KIND of a book could or would he produce as his Crowning Life Work, WITH MORE THAN THIRTY YEARS OF ADDITIONAL PRACTICE AND EXPERIENCE? The book itself answers the question, and is the most valuable production in the history of book publishing.
The Book is published in both English and German.

Bellefonte Republican,

Local Department.

—The Democrats are routed
They feel it in their heart,
And for their trip up Salt river
They should prepare to start.
Their accidental President
Was a failure great;
He'll drag his party down with him—
They will deserve their fate.

—Mud in profusion.

—Nights are now disagreeably dark.

—Now we have the sere and yellow leaf.

—Is your turkey fattening for Thanksgiving?

—The summer fly is almost exterminated.

—This is the time of year for hot cakes for breakfast.

—The Bellefonte Band played excellently on Tuesday night.

—Mrs. Ammerman's house on Bishop street has been tastefully repainted.

—Work on Curtin street continues as much as wind and weather will permit.

—The Pennsylvania railroad inspection cars are on the Tyrone division today.

—Almost ever lawyer in the country is engaged in saving the Nation from destruction.

—Young men have an invitation to the Y. M. C. A. meeting next Sunday afternoon.

—The confirmation services in the Episcopal church will be held next Sunday morning.

—Work on the erection of the new depot building is not progressing remarkable fast.

—At the Spring elections the people of Bellefonte will vote in favor of keeping the cows off the streets.

—John Bayard remarked on Monday that the roads were in good condition all the way to Centre Hall.

—Milton Straub, of this place, was struck by a locomotive at Milesburg on Tuesday, and slightly hurt.

—A four-pronged buck and several wild turkeys have been killed by Newton Hamilton sportsmen the past week.

—Some pretty decorations of flags and bunting were added to the interior embellishments of the Republican Club room on Tuesday, —Rev. Dr. Monroe's sermon on "Christian Citizenship" in the M. E. church, Sunday evening, was a most admirable deliverance.

—A meeting for young men is held each Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Y. M. C. A. hall. All the young men of the town are cordially invited.

—Two citizens of Philipsburg—one Prohibitionist and the other Republican—are indulging in an animated political discussion through the columns of the Daily Journal.

—That is quite a lonely dark promenade which Francis Speer takes out North Allegheny street nearly every evening. But we suppose it is the pleasantest walk in the world to him.

—Every member of the W. C. T. U. of this place is requested to be at the meeting of the Union this afternoon at 3 o'clock, when the report of the delegates to the State Convention will be given.

—The registry list shows that DuBois has 1,288 voters in 1888 against 889 last year. This is an astonishing rate of increase. The increase in the county is over 2,000 or at a rate of 25 per cent. —Dubois Express.

—Quite a large number of Harrison and Morton boys went to the top of Reservoir hill on Tuesday about 5 o'clock p. m. and raised a handsome pole to the breeze. The pole is about fifty feet in length and neatly finished.

—A curious event occurred at Mt. Eagle on Friday morning. While the storm was raging just before daylight, lightning struck J. B. Leather's handle factory at that place, slightly damaging the factory and machinery.

—The Democrats hopes, like the leaves, are falling to the ground. We feel for the Demys, but they can still perform a great public duty by absolving their false allegiance to Cleveland and voting for patriotism, protection and Benjamin Harrison.

—On the 15th instant Henry Gray, aged about 80 years, of Susquehanna township, and uncle to Sheriff Gray, of Cambria county, had a leg broken by a kick from a horse. Philip Gray, of Carroltown, father of the Sheriff, is very ill from dropsy.

—In an extensive freight wreck near Tyrone Tuesday afternoon, two boys, whose names seem to be unknown, were killed. They were stealing a ride. It is seldom of late that a wreck occurs without killing someone who has no business to be on the train.

—On Saturday an Allegheny street lady purchased three dozen eggs. On Monday morning she went to get one but could find none. "Where are they, Bridget?" she asked. "Faith, mum,' was Bridget's reply; "I don't know unless they hatched themselves and walked away."

HAPPENINGS AT HOUSERVILLE.

Bad Weather for the Farmers—Other Occupations as Usual.

Mr. S. A. Brew continues to operate his mine bank at its full capacity on the farm of Mr. William Thompson.

Mr. Jacob Shuey has been extremely ill. He is now resting quietly. What the outcome may be we cannot tell, but we hope he may recover.

Messrs. Bottorf and Scholl are the owners of a large quantity of more than ordinarily fine cattle which they intend to feed for the market. Don't make them too fat, gentlemen.

People must die and tombstones thus become necessary. J. B. Mayes & Co., are doing a rushing business in manufacturing and selling them. Their stock includes all kinds of tombstones and monuments.

Miss L. May Houser the accomplished daughter of Mrs. Snyder, has returned home. She will remain at her home for a while.

Corn husking is the entire order of the day now and the weather is about as unfavorable for farmers as it possibly can be.

Look out for Hallow e'en. Its coming on rapidly, and meanwhile cabbage and other such movable out door articles are in danger.

The cider making season is lively, while apple cutting and butter boiling are fashionable occupations.

We are told that the new iron bridge at Lemont is completed, thanks to Messrs. Lytle and Decker.

Mr. E. M. Shuey certainly drives a horse which is a fine animal.

All who raise porkers try to fatten their respective hog into the largest. Jacob Houser is ahead and will come out victorious.

Mr. William Thompson has erected a new stable on his farm for the benefit of Mr. Moore, his tenant farmer.

UGLY JOE.

—"Jason," a well known and voluminous writer of Huntingdon county, says of that county what will apply equally well to this: "The superabundant rains this fall make the keeping of roads in repair extremely difficult. Most of our country roads therefore, are in a bad condition. We have hardly begun to appreciate the importance of under-draining to keep roads in good order. It is on all heavy soils, the first thing to be done. In neighborhoods where farmers under-drain their land the roads are much better than where they do not. Very often the drain crosses the road, and always at a point where it will be of most advantage. With an under-drain three feet deep crossing a road, and usually in depression, it should be easy to keep a long stretch of road always dry. As a rule, most of the work usually put upon country highways is wasted. Consciousness of this fact is one reason why such work is generally shirked as far as possible. Most men will not work at their road tax as they do on their farms for themselves. If they could know that their work on the road was as directly for their own benefit as that which they do in every day farm work, this would not be so. To have men engage earnestly in road making, it must be shown that their labors are producing good results. As it is now, very often the harder men work the worse will be the roads."

Was Charlotte Temple a Myth?

The Rev. Morgan Dix, rector of Trinity New York, has destroyed the peace of mind of many a reader of the pathetic story of Charlotte Temple by disputing its authenticity. Heretofore no one has doubted it, if any one has ever seriously taken the question of its authenticity into consideration. Charlotte Temple, according to the legend, was a beautiful young English girl who ran away from home and came to America with an English officer about the time of the revolution. Here she was betrayed and deserted, and died of a broken heart with her babe in her arms, and was buried by strangers in a strangers' land, in the little churchyard that now stands at the head of Wall street.

Dr. Dix says there is no record to support the story. There would be one, he says, were the story true. Therefore he regards it a myth, that no such person ever existed, or if she did she was not buried in Trinity churchyard. Who that has read the Melancholy Tale and Sad Fate of Charlotte Temple will not regret this. Surely it was old and sad enough to be true,

Synod Sayings.

The Synod of the Presbyterian church has been in session in Erie. Among the proceedings we notice the following, in which, it will be observed, Rev. Dr. Laurie took an active part:

The Lafayette College men held a reunion Saturday night at the Reed House, and sat down to a banquet as the guests of some resident alumni.

On Saturday the Synod received a petition from the Du Bois church to be transformed from the Huntingdon to the Clarion Presbytery. Dr. Persons reported on Washington Jefferson College; Dr. C. W. Stewart made an appeal on behalf of Lafayette College; Rev. J. I. Gibson, of Pittsburg, was recommended by the Committee for permanent Clerk; Drs. Craven, Allan Purves, of Pittsburg, and Laurie of Bellefonte, spoke on the freedman: John T. Patterson, of Pittsburg, and Dr. Tulley, of Media, spoke on the state of religion; Dr. Laurie of Bellefonte, on home missions, and Rev. J. N. Gibson, of Pittsburg, and Secretary Gauze, of the Committee of Aid for Colleges, spoke on sustentation. The proposal to appoint a Secretary for sustentation was postponed. A Judicial Committee was appointed.

Death of an Aged Lady.

Mrs. Sallie Ann Kase, the mother of Messrs. Charles and George Kase and Mrs. William Fitzgerald, of this place, died at the home of her son Charles, on Spring street, at 11:15 o'clock on Sunday night. This venerable lady was born 76 years ago in Hunterdon Co., N. J., on the 3rd of October, 1812, which would make her age 76 years and 18 days. Her husband died several years ago. Nine children, four sons and five daughters, are still living, all except one—Mrs. Heylmun, who resides in Washington, D. C.—being residents of this State. A daughter, Mrs. William Dietrick, of Williamsport, arrived on the morning train Monday.

Mrs. Kase, before coming to this place lived at Crescent, in Lycoming county. Since her sons, Charles and George, have lived in Bellefonte, she had made her home here, though it was her delight to go from one home to the other of her children, taking that maternal interest in their prosperity which characterizes the affectionate parent.

The numerous friends which the deceased had made in this place and the terms of high respect with which they refer to her are true indications of her character. Each one of her children will feel that the best friend has been taken away. Her illness was very brief and was caused, it is believed, by blood-poisoning. She became slightly ill on Thursday, the 11th, and was not considered in a dangerous condition until Friday of last week.

That Foot Ball Accident.

In recent issues of the DAILY NEWS we have published references to the serious accident at foot ball which occurred to Will H. Keller, son of D.S. Keller, Esq., of this place and Charles D. Neff, of Alexandria, Huntingdon county, while playing foot ball on the campus of Franklin and Marshall College, at Lancaster. Colonel Keller went to see his son as soon as he heard of the accident and finds that Will's injuries are not serious. The way the accident occurred is thus described:

It seems that E. C. Hiller, one of the players had secured the ball. Immediately a rush was made for him, the foremost runners being W. H. Keller and Charles D. Neff, who were on the "Rush Line." Just as they reached Hiller, he slipped nimbly away from them and both young men rushed together with terrific force. The shock threw both to the ground and there they lay. Neff was in convulsions and Keller's face was covered with blood that streamed from an ugly wound over the right eye. Neff's injuries were then considered very serious, but we learn that he is getting along all right. As we have stated, Will's injuries are such as will afford him only temporary inconvenience.

—Here's what another old fraud of a weather prophet predicts. About the opposite of what he presages will be true: "A. J. DeVoe, the weather man, in his predictions for this month, says: After the 20th we shall have a touch of Indian summer up to the 23d, with mild pleasant weather, and farmers should make good use of the time and prepare for wild, blustery weather which will follow on the 23rd, for winter will set in early this year. A cyclone will occur in Virginia, causing snow to fall in all the Northern States, with dangerous gales on the coast. After the 26th, clear, cold weather will prevail until the 30th, and the month will close with snow. your readers should make every possible preparation to meet one of the coldest, blustriest, snowiest winters that has visited the American continent for the last fifty years."

—Lemuel Brooks bids fair to equal Dr. Carver in his skill as a marksman and displays much more common sense in the kind of game he shoots. The Dr. will bang away at glass balls and will generally spoil the balls, but that is the end of it. Lem went to the woods and banged away at pheasants. He shot eight times and killed seven pheasants, wasting only one shot. Lem is the kind of a soldier to take to battle when the amunition is limited.

—C. F. Mann has found no takers as yet of his offer to bet from $100 to $6,000 that Benjamin Harrison will be the next President of the United States. The Democrats as well as the Republicans seem to have arrived at the conclusion that Mr. Harrison's election is certain beyond a doubt.—Lock Haven Daily Express.

—Water street and also Willow Bank street are in very bad condition. Several car loads of cinder or refuse iron ore should be brought from some of the furnaces or mines and dumped on the streets. The cost would be but slight while those substances are equal to the best of broken stones.

—Miss Frances Williard has been re-elected President of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Blanchard Briefs.

On Saturday our people were excited over the killing of two persons on the Beach Creek Railroad, one of them Mr James Cassidy, a Railroad employe, and the other a Mr. Johnson, who was penniless and tried to take a free ride which cost his life. The funeral sermon of Mr. Cassidy was preached at the Disciple church on last Sabbath by Rev. J. P. Findley. His text was part of 17, verse of 7th chapter of Ecclesiastes, "Why shouldest thou die before thy time." A free train was run on the Beech Creek Railroad from Philipsburg, bringing a large number of the Knights of the Golden Eagle, of whom he was a member, who attended the funeral, taking charge of the body at the grave and burying it according to the rules of the order, which was witnessed by a large concourse of people, who were pleased with the intelligent appearance of the strangers.

Mr. J. R. Bumgardner, of Blanchard, Pa., has copyrighted a "new method of addition" which he has printed in pamplet form and will sell at 25 cents per copy. By following the principles taught in it any person can learn to add at once 2, 3, 4, or 5 columns of figures. The discoverer can add two columns of ten figures in two seconds or 300 in a minute, &c. He can also add 6, 7, 8, or 9 columns at once and write down result. Among his many testimonials are those of Superintendents D. M. Wolf of Centre county, and D. M. Brungard of Clinton, recommending it especially to teachers. It would be well for some professor of mathmetics to pay him a royalty and have it published in their works and thus bring it into general use.

Mr. D. M. Burlew is a non-compromising Republican and an excellent and obliging shoemaker.

Our schools are now in progress under the principalship of Miss Lizzie M. Knnes, who has charge of the Grammar department.

Miss Alice DeHaas, who has been seriously ill for several weeks, is improving rapidly, and will take charge of her school in this place Monday next.

Mrs. D. W. Clark and daughter Olive, have returned home from a visit among friends in Unionville.

Two Harrison and Morton flags were raised to the breeze here last week.

Rev. F. L. Bardens has returned from Philadelphia, looking well. He filled his regular appointments on last Sabbath.

Party Festivities at Milesburg.

Natal days come to us about once in every 365, though this year there were 366, all because the girls have the right to propose matrimony. It seems queer that Father Time should give them more days in the year than he gives the beaux. But we suppose that is another evidence of the old fellow's gallantry.

But Mr. Allan Swires, of Milesburg made amends for the inconvenience of having to wait one day longer than usual for the anniversary of his birthday by making it a great event. So on Saturday evening an enjoyable gathering of young people took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Swires, at which were assembled a large number of the people of Milesburg and some from Bellefonte. There were the Misses Florence and Ida Orriss, Claude Smith, Mollie Smith and Bertha Swires, also at the same place Mr. and Mrs. McMullen, Mrs. Witoskey and Mrs. Edward Smith; Messrs. Reuben Smith, William Smith, Charles Wright, Harry Bouse and Boyd Stonerode, all of Milesburg; Misses Minnie, Lena and Sadie Jamison and Messrs. W. E. Hendrixson and Frank Prentiss, of Bellefonte.

The hours passed pleasantly. A tempting oyster supper was served, and the time for parting came all too soon. Mr. and Mrs. Swires have the gratitude of all for their special efforts to contribute to the enjoyment of each guest.

Hot Water Relieves Pain.

There is scarcely an ache or pain in the whole body which is not soothed or removed by hot water if applied as follows: Dip a piece of flannel or cloth, of five or six folds or layers, in boiling water and lay it on the painful part, covering it instantly with a dry flannel of which the edges should extend over the wet one an inch or more; as soon as the wet flannel has dried a little, or in about five minutes, slip it out under one edge of the dry cloth and introduce another flannel as hot as can be handled; do this in so adroit a manner as to allow as little cold air as possible to get to the skin touched by the hot flannel; persevere until the pain is removed. Physicians assert that by this hot-water poultice the most violent dry and distressing coughs have been relieved in a few minutes, and some forms of croup subdued in half an hour.

—A large congregation assembled in the Presbyterian chapel, Sunday evening to hear Friend David Tatum, of Cleveland, Ohio, on Temperance. Rev. Mr. Hoshour conducted the opening devotional exercises and introduced the speaker. His remarks in advocacy of total abstinence and in favor of prohibition legislation were about as strong and pointed as any we have ever heard. He speaks very rapidly and unhesitatingly. He showed the insufficiency and futility of the usual methods employed to prevent intemperance; likening them to the actions of an idiot who when told to ladle all the water from a trough had not the good sense to first stop the flow of water into the trough. He exhorted the people to remember the constitutional prohibition law for which they will soon have the opportunity to vote.

Mr. John Sourbeck went to New York city Tuesday to remain until after the election. He will assist Matthew Stanley Quay in the somewhat exciting contest in the metropolis.

Mr. Thomas Carson, of Kennedy, paid this office a visit on last Tuesday, Mr. Carson is a pleasant and enterprising gentleman and at present is engaged in the lumber business.

Rev. Bishop Rulinson will be in Bellefonte on Sunday, the 28th, and confirmation services will be held in the Episcopal church in the morning. It is expected that there will be a class of about ten.

Lee Woodcock came home Saturday morning from a hunting expedition. All the game he brought with him was a wild turkey, but he left some of it in the woods and it will probably follow him to-morrow.

Mr. Edward Barry, heretofore a resident of the West ward, has moved into the house vacated by Col. D. K. Tate on Penn street and Col. Tate has moved into a new and handsome residence erected by him on the same thoroughfare.

Mrs. Larimer, mother of Messrs. Will and Rush Larimer, and Miss Lide Furey, one of Bellefonte's most attractive young ladies, returned home on Wednesday evening. They have been traveling through the West and had a most enjoyable trip.

Rev. Warner and wife, of Pine Grove Mills, Centre county, are the guests of Rev. and Mrs. E. D. Weigle. Rev. Warner has accepted a call to the Lutheran church at Northumberland, Pa, and will enter upon his dutieis as pastor December 1—Altoona Tribune.

C. K. Sober, the great marksman living in this county, says that last spring he predicted that there would be a very small wheat crop throughout the world. If so, Mr. Sober may secure a reputation as a weather prophet which will be worth a fortune to him.

Rev. Wm. H. Ebersoll, of Snow Shoe, writes from that place to Messiah's Herald a pleasant letter entitled "Notes by the Way." It tells of great religious interest in the work under his charge and of nine persons being baptised by Rev. M. L. Jackson, at Cataract, on the West Branch of of the Susquehanna.

Mr. C. T. Fryberger, of Philipsburg, paid us a pleasant call Friday. Mr. Fryberger is one of the candidates of the Republican party for the legislature. What impresses most in regard to the Republican candidates this year is their high intelligence. Mr. Frybergor is a perfect gentleman, and as a member of the legislature would be a credit to the county which sends him there. Of course, we want this county to exert an influence in the legislature which is equal to her reputation and Messrs. Fryberger and Allison will do so. We are glad to know that both these gentlemen are well known and have legions of friends in all parties.

Personal Pencilings.

Miss Ella McClain, of this place is at home again after several weeks absence.

Clem Dale, Esq., was President and Wash Rees Secretary of the Republican club meeting.

Mr. William P. Duncan, of Philipsburg, discussed business affairs with Bellefonte citizens on Tuesday.

Miss Gertrude Woodcock, of Altoona, is a guest at the residence of Rev. J. A. Woodcock on Linn street.

Mr. David Glenn is one one of those fortunate individuals who will wear a high silk hat after the election.

Miss Byers, of Williamsport, who has been the guest of Miss Emily Harris, departed for her home on Saturday.

Mr. T. B. Budinger, Snow Shoe's prominent and excellent business man, spent several hours in Bellefonte on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Garman are now occupying their handsome new house which, outside and inside, is a perfect gem of beauty.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Valentine, who spent part of their honeymoon in Bellefonte, departed on the early train, Tuesday, for Atlantic City, N. J.

Mr. Israel Sternberg, who is in the Government printing office at Washington, D. C., arrived home on Tuesday to visit his relatives. Miss Celia Sternberg, his sister, departed for Philadelphia, to visit friends.

There are two lady guests at the residence of Mr. James McClure on Bishop street. They are Mrs. Harry Berryhill, of Tacoma, Washington Territory. and Mrs. E. Mobley, of Beech Creek, Pa. Both of the ladies are sisters of Mrs. McClure.

Rev. Mr. Bedford, who, we are sorry to say, is a Prohibition candidate for the assembly, was in Bellefonte on Tuesday. We regret his Prohibition candidacy because we realize that every vote for him detracts from the strength of the Republican candidate and thus longer delays the submission of the constitutional prohibition plank.

Mr. A. L. Miller, of this place, is prepared to debate, from a Republican standpoint, the political issues of the campaign with any Democrat under 23 years of age, who may wish to advocate the Democratic position. This offers an opportunity to any young Democrat who is anxious to either distinguish or extinguish himself. Send acceptance of this challenge to DAILY NEWS office.

The Republican Club Meeting.

What was designed to be only a Republican Club meeting, held on Tuesday evening, took on the proportions of a regular mass meeting of citizens. The attendance was as large if not larger than was that at the last Democratic mass meeting which was advertised in all parts of the county. This shows the exceptional interest taken in the questions at issue by our fellow citizens and proves that their sympathies are with the Republicans, when a simple notice in a town can call out more people for the Republicans than can flaming posters in all parts county for the Democrats.

The addresses were made by Col. Dunham and Gen. Keller, and were among the best we have heard this year. The gentlemen spoke argumentatively, dwelt closely upon the issues of the campaign and their reasons were conclusive.

But the time when argument is necessary is past. Men have decided. Three fourths or more of the voters in the northern states will vote for Harrison and Morton and that a glorious victory will be reaped on November 6 is assured.

Mr. George M. Boal added to the entertainment by two splendidly delivered recitations, appropriate to the occasion. The first one "brought down the house" and George had to give the second to prevent all the other houses in town from tumbling about his ears. The way that he recites shows that he has lost none of his fine powers of elocution.

Charles Garner was the last speaker and his speech added to the pleasure of the very attentive and highly delighted audience.

—When Mr. Francis Speer calls at the Telephone Exchange his countenance is always wreathed in smiles. As he departs a rippling peal of musical laughter resounds through the halls.

—Behold the "unterrified"
How badly they feel;
The ghost they've given up,
See how their ranks reel.
Continue the battle
Just two weeks more,
And a glorious victory
Protection will score.
